RIGHT OF WAY IS SECURED FOR EXTENSION TO MONACA

Pan Handle Branch Is Certain
To Be Built Further
Up the River.

CONTRACTS ARE ALREADY LET

For Grading the Entire Length of the Proposed New Line.

WORK TO BEGIN NEXT APRIL

And an Effort Will Be Made to Have Trains Running to Monaca By December, 1902—All Necessary Deals Quietly Closed.

There is no longer any question as to the early extension of the Chester division of the Panhandle to Monaca, Pa.

The Pennsylvania company has completed its arrangements for right of way along the river, and matters have reached the stage for the letting of the contract. It was given out today that on Tuesday the contract for grading the Monaca half of the line had been let to Thomas McNally, and that the other half, extending to Chester, had been let to Boot & Flinn. The contractors all belong in Pittsburgh.

They are under agreement to commence the work by April 1, 1902, or earlier if the season permits. An effort will be made to have trains running over the Monaca extension by next autumn, or December, 1902.

A direct line will thus be given Chester to Pittsburgh and its shipping facilities greatly benefited. For some time the Pennsylvania has intended to push its line up the right bank of the river, owing to the numerous new industries on that side and the heavy increase in freight tonnage.

In few instances has a railway acted with more quiet and haste than has the Pennsylvania in obtaining its right of way. Only within the past week have most of the deals with property owners been closed.

For quite a distance east of Chester the line runs through land belonging to Mrs. John D. Stewart, formerly Mrs. Rose Kinney. She has yielded the railroad the right to a strip for $3,000, the consideration being made Tuesday.

A reason for the Pennsylvania's silence and haste in projecting the extension is on account of the simulated purposes of both the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie and the B. & O. to acquire right of ways and construct lines on the right bank of the Ohio between Wheeling and Pittsburgh. The Lake Erie has a line from Pittsburgh to Monaca on the right bank, crossing the river at Beaver, but the Pennsylvania has succeeded in being the first to mature its plans and take definite action in the matter.

Whether it will construct a bridge across the Ohio at Monaca or push a new line paralleling the Fort Wayne on the opposite side of the stream has not been learned.

IN PROBATE COURT

D. F. Steiner Appointed Administrator of the Estate of the Late Matilda Barr.

Lisbon, November 21.—(Special)—Daniel F. Steiner has been appointed administrator of the estate of Matilda Barr, late of Wellsville. The appraisers are W. C. Conner, W. F. Stewart and A. R. Wells. Bond, $5,000.

William Burton has filed his final account as administrator of the estate of Sarah R. Burton.

GOING TO TENNESSEE

Many East Liverpool Citizens to Winter in the Sunny South.

A large party of business and professional men of this city, with their families, will go to Tennessee after the holidays, where the remainder of the winter will be spent.

UNION MEN AROUSED

Over a Rumor That Leonard Will Appoint a Non-Union Deputy.

There is a furor among the union laboring men in this city and Wellsville over the apparently well founded rumor that Sheriff-elect Leonard has determined to appoint D. A. Davidson, of Wellsville, as his chief deputy.

The union men claim, in view of the fact that, as they were largely responsible for Leonard's election, the first place given out should be to one of their number. Mr. Davidson has served two terms as city clerk of Wellsville, and is now superintendent of the water works. The union men openly charge that during the recent steel strike he was in sympathy with the mill people and supported Mayor Dennis.

The question will doubtless be taken up by the labor organizations and a public expression given out on the subject if Davidson is appointed. Davidson is a painter by trade, but has never affiliated with the Wellsville local since its organization.

GREAT PREPARATIONS

MADE FOR THE CARTWRIGHT-HUSS WEDDING.

Exquisite Decorations in Gorgeous Profusion Adorn the Home of the Bride.

Everything in the way of decorations, etc., was arranged this afternoon at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Cartwright on Sixth street for the wedding tonight of their daughter, Miss Florence Nightingale Cartwright, and Mr. Simon Rinehart Huss, of Pittsburgh.

The decorations are elaborate and beautiful and great preparations have otherwise been made to make the event a most memorable one. Between 200 and 300 guests will be present.

DATE FOR HEARING

In the Case of Dr. Thompson to Be Fixed at Lisbon Tomorrow.

The date for the hearing of the motion for a new trial in the case of the state versus Dr. W. L. Thompson, will be determined upon on Friday at Lisbon.

Hon. R. W. Tayler, who is Dr. Thompson's chief counsel, has been absent from Lisbon since the trial of the case and for this reason the day of the hearing has not been set.

It is anticipated that the motion will be heard about the middle of next month.

In case the motion is overruled Dr. Thompson will be sentenced at once and then bond will be given to take the case to the circuit court. This court will suspend the sentence until the case can be heard by the higher court, which will be early in February.

COLUMBIA WON

Diamond Indians Outclassed in Yesterday's Foot Ball Game.

The foot ball game between the Columbias and the Diamond Indians, which was played at West End park last evening, resulted in victory for the former by a score of 11 to 0.

The game was very exciting at times, but had not progressed far before it was demonstrated that the Indians were clearly outclassed.

The victorious team is composed in the main of high school students and a very strong aggregation considering their weight.

GRANTED A FRANCHISE

New Company Which Proposes to Supply Natural Gas to Lisbon.

Lisbon, November 21.—(Special)—A franchise was granted by the city council at a special meeting last evening to the Columbiana Gas company. This company was recently organized by E. E. Hanna, of Salem, and is said to be made up of Pittsburgh capitalists. It plans to pipe gas to Lisbon from the Fink farm, on which are situated several strong gas wells.

By the terms of the franchise the work must be under way by June 1, 1902.

TAKEN TO MANSFIELD

Robert Winnett Starts to Serve His Term of a Year in the Reformatory.

Lisbon, November 21.—(Special)—Robert Winnett, who was sentenced to one year in the reformatory for his connection with the Ada Moore case, was conveyed to Mansfield this morning by Guard Stewart Baker.

THE TAXPAYERS CAME IN DROVES

Deputy Treasurers Had a Busy Time During Their Stay Here.

DECEMBER 20 THE LIMIT

For Paying And Avoiding Delinquency.
The Total Taxes for City And Township And How They Are Classified—Increase of 60 Per Cent.

When the doors were closed at the office of the Potters' Building and Savings company at 3 o'clock this afternoon, there were upwards of a score of taxpayers in the room, and it required the united efforts of the entire force to attend to their demands in time to permit the deputy treasurers to depart on the afternoon train for Lisbon.

An unusually large percentage of the property owners have taken advantage of the opportunity afforded during the past two days to pay their taxes, but a great majority of the residents merely visited the office for the purpose of ascertaining the exact amount of their rating in order that they might make no mistake when sending the amount to the treasurer's office at Lisbon, which most of them do between now and December 20.

About December 1 taxes may be paid at the office of the Potters' Building and Loan, and from that time until the limit on December 20 it is expected nearly all will have paid their taxes. Those who fail to do so will come under the delinquent head and must pay the regular penalty in addition to their regular rating.

A batch of interesting figures showing the manner in which the taxes for the township are classified and what they amount to, is given below:

Total value of land, Liverpool city, $4,523,400; total value of personal property, $1,162,010; total valuation, $5,685,410.

December collections, $84,733.10; delinquencies, $1,776.43; special, $4,498.01; June collections, $78,458.66; total, $163,191.76.

The following amounts were collected: For city purposes, $48,505; school, $61,050; township, $1,700; county, $29,200; state, $16,000; delinquencies 1900, $1,800; special assessment, $4,500; total $162,300.

Of 64 pieces of improved property taken from the first eight letters of the alphabet the increase in taxes amount to 60 per cent over the amount assessed last year.

There will be collected in the township $3,500 this December and $3,000 in June.

The valuation is: Land lots, $292,750; personal, $201,340. Tax for township, $170; for school, $1,650; for roads, $4,000; for state, $1,500; for county, $2,700.

UNCONSCIOUS FOR WEEKS

Aged Former Resident of This City Near Death in Illinois.

James A. Harris, a former resident of this city, is lying unconscious at Peoria, Ill., and has been in that condition since November 7.

All efforts to awaken him have failed and he is being kept alive with wine and milk, which is forced down his throat. The attending physicians are mystified, although they say he may be suffering from a hemorrhage of the brain.

Harris is 67 years of age and is a mold maker. He will be remembered by many of the older potters in this city.

SITE PURCHASED FOR BIG NEW PLANT

A deal has been closed by local capitalists for the purchase of the Rinehart property on Second street. The property fronts 60 feet on Second street and extends back 130 feet to an alley in the rear and is improved with a two-story brick building occupied as a livery stable. The consideration is given as $8,000.

The purchaser, which is a newly organized corporation, with Alex McBane and George Croxall at its head, will convert the building into a modern up-to-date factory for the manufacture of stiffs and potters' supplies in general.

The building will be thoroughly

GREAT GROWTH OF CORPORATIONS

Secretary of State's Report on Ohio Enterprises For a Year.

NEW CONCERNS WERE 1851

Governor Nash Further Elucidates His Ideas on Taxes—To Abolish State
Levy—Child Labor Law Violated at Toronto—Capital Notes.

Columbus, November 21.—(Special)—The annual report of Secretary of State L. C. Laylin for the year ending November 15, 1901, has been submitted to Governor Nash. During the year there were filed 1,851 articles of incorporation and 1,808 miscellaneous certificates relating to incorporations. The total capital invested, original and increased, was $204,972,890, as compared with $113,040,099 for the year 1900, being an increase of $91,932,791. The amount invested by the several classes of corporations was $125,667,790, and by increase of capital stock, $79,305,100.

The receipts from all sources amounted to the sum of $234,629,411. The total aggregate of receipts of the department since 1889 are $1,825,479.67. Secretary of State Laylin suggests that an annual tax be imposed on the capital stock of all corporations operating in Ohio and also recommends the passage of a law requiring corporations to file certificates of dissolution. There are 40,000 corporations for profit on the books of the department, but there is no way of ascertaining how many of these are in existence.

The exact plurality of Judge Price, who led the Republican ticket, is 84,662. The plurality of Hon. I. B. Cameron, who was second on the state ticket, is 84,183. Hon. Carl I. Nippert, Lieutenant governor-elect, received 4,676 more votes than did Governor Nash. Colonel Kilbourne led his ticket, with Anthony Howells, of Massillon, candidate for Lieutenant governor, second.

Senator Archer stated today that he was well satisfied with the impression he had made in his candidacy for the position of president pro tem of the senate. It will require 11 votes to win, and he believes he will be able to marshal this number at the proper time. His strongest opponent, Senator Patterson, it is reported, has given up hope of capturing the place, and instead of urging his candidacy is preparing to secure the congressional nomination in his district—the Tenth—next year.

Senator Archer's selection as president pro tem would mean that he would act as presiding officer of the senate most of the session. While Lieutenant Governor-elect Nippert is an able man, highly educated and cultured, yet he is somewhat diffident on account of his German provincialism and for this reason he will not occupy the chair as often as customary.

The superintendent of schools of Toronto has complained to the state inspector of workshops and factories that the child labor law is being violated there. He cites a number of instances where children who should be at school are at work.

The department has ordered Deputy Inspector R. M. Hull, of Salineville, to inspect the complaint. Deputy Hull has begun his annual tour of inspection. The last time the department had communication with him he was at East Liverpool.

Albert Moore, who was brought to the penitentiary Tuesday from Stark county to serve two and one-half years for burglary and larceny, is in the idle house. In a few days he will be put to work. His arm which was amputated, is still causing him trouble. The flesh does not cover the bone and another operation may be necessary. Moore was shot in the arm by a farmer whose chickens he was stealing. He remarked at the penitentiary that he had prepared to prove an alibi that he was 50 miles away when the fowls were stolen.

The East End Pastime club, a social organization of East Liverpool, has been incorporated by W. C. Smith, W. W. Calhoun, George Nelson, Edgar Allison and Mort Calhoun.

Governor Nash, in his address to the state auditors, spoke in favor of the abolishment of the tax levy for state purposes upon real and personal property which would do away with the state board of equalization and make taxation a local matter. Levies on real and personal property to be made by county, municipal and township officers. To accomplish these objects it will be necessary for the legislature to reduce to the lowest possible limit compatible with the obligations imposed upon the state by laws, the expenses of the state and providing new sources of revenue. The governor did not indicate what the new resources would be, but it is believed he had in mind the imposition of an excise tax on corporations.

Governor Nash has appointed James M. Shallenberger to fill the unexpired term of Judge Frank Dellenbaugh, of Cleveland, who resigned his position on the bench several days ago. The appointee is comparatively young and is a veteran of the Spanish and Philippine wars. His term will end in February, when a Democratic judge-elect will step into the position.

SUIT FOR DAMAGES

HOWARD KELLY SUES THE Mc-PHERSONS FOR $10,000.

Claims His Reputation Was Injured
By Stories of Alleged White Capping.

Lisbon, November 21.—(Special)—Suit has been brought by Howard Kelly against John H. McPherson, Kate L. McPherson and H. Sumner McPherson for $10,000 damages. This is an outgrowth of the Highlandtown white cap troubles.

The petition alleges that on or before September 3, 1901, the defendants began to harass and injure the plaintiff. Without reason they brought Kelly into Justice Riddle's court at Lisbon to answer a false charge of shooting at Sumner McPherson with intent to kill. The news of this trial was made so public as to cause Kelly great annoyance and to bring him into disrepute, both at home and about Grove City, Pa., where he is a student at college.

The McPhersons are the alleged victims of white cap persecution. Kelly is the son of Rev. J. M. Kelly, of Clintonville, Pa. He is a fine looking youth of 18, of good address. At his hearing in the justice's court he made an excellent impression by his straightforward denial of the charge against him. The justice found no cause to hold him for common pleas court. There is a disposition on the part of his neighbors to believe that if McPherson has received the alleged injuries they were not at the hands of Kelly.

UNABLE TO SPEAK

Robert Martin, of the East End, Near Death From Paralysis.

Robert Martin, a well known plumber, is in a dying condition at his home in the East End, the result of a paralytic stroke received a week ago. He cannot speak and all of his children have been summoned to the bedside.

Jesse Martin has arrived from Cleveland.

A MIGHTY HUNTER

Local Nimrod Captured Rabbits and Quail By the Score.

Henry Moore, who has been spending some time hunting at Dunganon returned home yesterday. He had good luck, securing 60 rabbits, 62 quail and five pheasants.

Away and Hid.

EXCITING MAN HUNT FOLLOWED

Andrew Call And Wilson Came Together And Call Was Knocked Down—Both Arrested And a Possible Tragedy Was Thus Prevented.

The domestic troubles of Mr. and Mrs. James Wilson took another peculiar turn last night. As a result the husband was locked up in jail, together with Andrew Call, who is alleged to have alienated Mrs. Wilson's affections.

Determined to settle his woes one way or the other, Wilson last night followed his wife to the home of Mrs. Thorne, on Franklin street, where she was later joined by Call. The husband watched the couple through a window and at an opportune moment rushed into the door and picked up his baby, which Mrs. Wilson had left lying on the floor.

Before he could be apprehended he escaped into the street and took the infant to Mrs. Sadie Anderson's boarding house, 163 Market street, where he secreted it. Call, meantime, secured the services of two of the Brighthouse boys and started out in search of Wilson. Near Market and Second street Wilson and Call came together—but only for a moment—as Wilson immediately struck Andrew across the left ear, sending him rolling.

Call was not much hurt, but jumping to his feet he started for city hall, at the same time screaming loudly for help. The entire community was aroused. Wilson picked up a brick and started after his tormentor.

Officer Mahoney was attracted by Call's cries and reached the city hall just in time to prevent a possible tragedy, as Wilson was so angered he acted like a crazy man. The two were placed in jail until this morning, when Mayor Davidson released Wilson.

Mrs. Wilson reached the mayor's office about the time her husband was having his hearing and tried to have him prosecuted for kidnapping. On being advised to do so, Wilson went after the baby and restored it to the mother. She was very indignant over Call's arrest and left the city hall vowing vengeance.

Call was charged with disorderly conduct and pleaded not guilty. He was released for a hearing later.

Wilson and his wife separated a few weeks ago, and the husband has since been trying to get their two children to send them to Fairmount home. The mother has been trying to prevent this. She admitted to the mayor this morning that she had not been doing right and said she loved Call more than Wilson.

The court's admonition that she change her ways made no perceptible impression on the woman, and as she took her departure she cursed her husband and made dangerous threats.

On leaving the jail Mrs. Wilson left for West Virginia with the child, which had been furnished a wardrobe by the people who kept it over night.

William Gray, who works at the Dresden, and one of Mrs. Anderson's boarders, heard Mrs. Wilson's sobs last night and sought to console her by telling her the child was in good hands. This only further agonized the woman, who clung to Gray like sticking plaster. The young man finally broke into a run and only by scaling fences was he able to elude her.

New School Desks Provided.

A number of desks were placed in the Pleasant Heights school today. The attendance at this building has been on the increase for some time and it was found necessary to install a number of new desks. The heating facilities of the building will also be added to in the near future.

Lisbon Has a Barber's Union.

DATE FOR HEARING

In the Case of Dr. Thompson to Be Fixed at Lisbon Tomorrow.

The date for the hearing of the motion for a new trial in the case of the state versus Dr. W. L. Thompson, will be determined upon on Friday at Lisbon.

Hon. R. W. Tayler, who is Dr. Thompson's chief counsel, has been absent from Lisbon since the trial of the case and for this reason the day of the hearing has not been set.

It is anticipated that the motion will be heard about the middle of next month.

In case the motion is overruled Dr. Thompson will be sentenced at once and then bond will be given to take the case to the circuit court. This court will suspend the sentence until the case can be heard by the higher court, which will be early in February.

THE TAXPAYERS CAME IN DROVES

Deputy Treasurers Had a Busy Time During Their Stay Here.

DECEMBER 20 THE LIMIT

For Paying And Avoiding Delinquency. The Total Taxes for City And Township And How They Are Classified—Increase of 60 Per Cent.

When the doors were closed at the office of the Potters' Building and Savings company at 3 o'clock this afternoon, there were upwards of a score of taxpayers in the room, and it required the united efforts of the entire force to attend to their demands in time to permit the deputy treasurers to depart on the afternoon train for Lisbon.

An unusually large percentage of the property owners have taken advantage of the opportunity afforded during the past two days to pay their taxes, but a great majority of the residents merely visited the office for the purpose of ascertaining the exact amount of their rating in order that they might make no mistake when sending the amount to the treasurer's office at Lisbon, which most of them do between now and December 20.

About December 1 taxes may be paid at the office of the Potters' Building and Loan, and from that time until the limit on December 20 it is expected nearly all will have paid their taxes. Those who fail to do so will come under the delinquent head and must pay the regular penalty in addition to their regular rating.

A batch of interesting figures showing the manner in which the taxes for the township are classified and what they amount to, is given below:

Total value of land, Liverpool city, $4,523,400; total value of personal property, $1,162,010; total valuation, $5,685,410.

December collections, $84,733.10; delinquents, $1,776.43; special, $4,498.01; June collections, $78,458.66; total, $163,191.76.

The following amounts were collected: For city purposes, $48,505; school, $61,050; township, $1,700; county, $29,200; state, $16,000; delinquencies 1900, $1,800; special assessment, $4,500; total $162,300.

Of 64 pieces of improved property taken from the first eight letters of the alphabet the increase in taxes amount to 60 per cent over the amount assessed last year.

There will be collected in the township $3,500 this December and $3,000 in June.

The valuation is: Land lots, $292,750; personal, $201,340. Tax for township, $170; for school, $1,650; for roads, $4,000; for state, $1,500; for county, $2,700.

GREAT GROWTH OF CORPORATIONS

Secretary of State's Report on Ohio Enterprises For a Year.

NEW CONCERNS WERE 1851

Governor Nash Further Elucidates His Ideas on Taxes—To Abolish State Levy—Child Labor Law Violated at Toronto—Capital Notes.

Columbus, November 21.—(Special)—The annual report of Secretary of State L. C. Laylin for the year ending November 15, 1901, has been submitted to Governor Nash. During the year there were filed 1,851 articles of incorporation and 1,808 miscellaneous certificates relating to incorporations. The total capital invested, original and increased, was $204,972,890, as compared with $113,040,099 for the year 1900, being an increase of $91,932,791. The amount invested by the several classes of corporations was $125,667,790, and by increase of capital stock, $79,305,100.

The receipts from all sources amounted to the sum of $234,629.41. The total aggregate of receipts of the department since 1889 are $1,825,479.67. Secretary of State Laylin suggests that an annual tax be imposed on the capital stock of all corporations operating in Ohio and also recommends the passage of a law requiring corporations to file certificates of dissolution. There are 40,000 corporations for profit on the books of the department, but there is no way of ascertaining how many of these are in existence.

The exact plurality of Judge Price, who led the Republican ticket, is $4,662. The plurality of Hon. I. B. Cameron, who was second on the state ticket, is $4,183. Hon. Carl I. Nipper, lieutenant governor-elect, received 4,676 more votes than did Governor Nash. Colonel Kilbourne led his ticket, with Anthony Howells, of Massillon, candidate for lieutenant governor, second.

Senator Archer stated today that he was well satisfied with the impression he had made in his candidacy for the position of president pro tem of the senate. It will require 11 votes to win, and he believes he will be able to marshal this number at the proper time. His strongest opponent, Senator Patterson, it is reported, has given up hope of capturing the place, and instead of urging his candidacy is preparing to secure the congressional nomination in his district—the Tenth—next year.

Senator Archer's selection as president pro tem would mean that he would act as presiding officer of the senate most of the session. While Lieutenant Governor-elect Nipper is an able man, highly educated and cultured, yet he is somewhat diffident on account of his German provincialism, and for this reason he will not occupy the chair as often as customary.

The superintendent of schools of Toronto has complained to the state inspector of workshops and factories that the child labor law is being violated there. He cites a number of instances where children who should be at school are at work.

The department has ordered Deputy Inspector R. M. Hull, of Salineville, to inspect the complaint. Deputy Hull has begun his annual tour of inspection. The last time the department had communication with him he was at East Liverpool.

Albert Moore, who was brought to the penitentiary Tuesday from Stark county to serve two and one-half years for burglary and larceny, is in the idle house. In a few days he will be put to work. His arm which was amputated, is still causing him trouble. The flesh does not cover the bone and another operation may be necessary. Moore was shot in the arm by a farmer whose chickens he was stealing. He remarked at the penitentiary that he had prepared to prove an alibi that he was 50 miles away when the fowls were stolen.

The East End Pastime club, a social organization of East Liverpool, has been incorporated by W. C. Smith, W. W. Calhoun, George Nelson, Edgar Allison and Mort Calhoun.

Governor Nash, in his address to the state auditors, spoke in favor of the abolishment of the tax levy for state purposes upon real and personal property which would do away with the state board of equalization and make taxation a local matter. Levies on real and personal property to be made by county, municipal and township officers. To accomplish these objects it will be necessary for the legislature to reduce to the lowest possible limit compatible with the obligations imposed upon the state by laws, the expenses of the state and providing new sources of revenue. The governor did not indicate what the new resources would be, but it is believed he had in mind the imposition of an excise tax on corporations.

Governor Nash has appointed James M. Shallenberger to fill the unexpired term of Judge Frank Dellenbaugh, of Cleveland, who resigned his position on the bench several days ago. The appointee is comparatively young and is a veteran of the Spanish and Philippine wars. His term will end in February, when a Democratic judge-elect will step into the position.

SUIT FOR DAMAGES

HOWARD KELLY SUES THE McPHERSONS FOR $10,000.

Claims His Reputation Was Injured By Stories of Alleged White Capping.

Lisbon, November 21.—(Special)—Suit has been brought by Howard Kelly against John H. McPherson, Kate L. McPherson and H. Sumner McPherson for $10,000 damages. This is an outgrowth of the Highlandtown white cap troubles.

The petition alleges that on or before September 3, 1901, the defendants began to harass and injure the plaintiff. Without reason they brought Kelly into Justice Riddle's court at Lisbon to answer a false charge of shooting at Sumner McPherson with intent to kill. The news of this trial was made so public as to cause Kelly great annoyance and to bring him into disrepute, both at home and about Grove City, Pa., where he is a student at college.

The McPhersons are the alleged victims of white cap persecution. Kelly is the son of Rev. J. M. Kelly, of Clintonville, Pa. He is a fine looking youth of 18, of good address. At his hearing in the justice's court he made an excellent impression by his straightforward denial of the charge against him. The justice found no cause to hold him for common pleas court. There is a disposition on the part of his neighbors to believe that if McPherson has received the alleged injuries they were not at the hands of Kelly.

And Picked Up the Baby, Which He Carried Hurriedly Away and Hid.

EXCITING MAN HUNT FOLLOWED

Andrew Call And Wilson Came Together And Call Was Knocked Down—Both Arrested And a Possible Tragedy Was Thus Prevented.

The domestic troubles of Mr. and Mrs. James Wilson took another peculiar turn last night. As a result the husband was locked up in jail, together with Andrew Call, who is alleged to have alienated Mrs. Wilson's affections.

Determined to settle his woes one way or the other, Wilson last night followed his wife to the home of Mrs. Thorne, on Franklin street, where she was later joined by Call. The husband watched the couple through a window and at an opportune moment rushed into the door and picked up his baby, which Mrs. Wilson had left lying on the floor.

Before he could be apprehended he escaped into the street and took the infant to Mrs. Sadie Anderson's boarding house, 163 Market street, where he secreted it. Call, meantime, secured the services of two of the Brighthouse boys and started out in search of Wilson. Near Market and Second street Wilson and Call came together—but only for a moment—as Wilson immediately struck Andrew across the left ear, sending him rolling.

Call was not much hurt, but jumping to his feet he started for city hall, at the same time screaming loudly for help. The entire community was aroused. Wilson picked up a brick and started after his tormentor.

Officer Mahoney was attracted by Call's cries and reached the city hall just in time to prevent a possible tragedy, as Wilson was so angered he acted like a crazy man. The two were placed in jail until this morning, when Mayor Davidson released Wilson.

Mrs. Wilson reached the mayor's office about the time her husband was having his hearing and tried to have him prosecuted for kidnapping. On being advised to do so, Wilson went after the baby and restored it to the mother. She was very indignant over Call's arrest and left the city hall vowing vengeance.

Call was charged with disorderly conduct and pleaded not guilty. He was released for a hearing later.

Wilson and his wife separated a few weeks ago, and the husband has since been trying to get their two children to send them to Fairmount home. The mother has been trying to prevent this. She admitted to the mayor this morning that she had not been doing right and said she loved Call more than Wilson.

The court's admonition that she change her ways made no perceptible impression on the woman, and as she took her departure she cursed her husband and made dangerous threats.

On leaving the jail Mrs. Wilson left for West Virginia with the child, which had been furnished a wardrobe by the people who kept it over night.

William Gray, who works at the Dresden, and one of Mrs. Anderson's boarders, heard Mrs. Wilson's sobbing last night and sought to console her by telling her the child was in good hands. This only further agonized the woman, who clung to Gray like sticking plaster. The young man finally broke into a run and only by scaling fences was he able to elude her.

New School Desks Provided.

WRESTLING MATCH RESULTS IN SERIOUS INJURY.

Harry Hanley Dislocated an Elbow And Had His Arm Broken.

Harry Hanley, 14-year-old son of Frank Hanley, met with a bad accident last night while wrestling with a young companion named Fetty.

A group of boys had formed a ring on Mulberry street and were engaged in athletic exercise. Hanley had thrown all of the lads who had met him in the ring, but, in a twist with Fetty his left arm was so severely wrenched that the elbow was thrown out of place and the joint of the lower arm broken.

Dr. Calhoun was called to reduce the fracture, but it is a very severe injury.

AN EXCELLENT LECTURE

On Temperance Given By Rev. C. N. Howard at Second U. P. Church.

Rev. C. N. Howard, of Rochester, N. Y., gave a fine temperance lecture last evening at the Second U. P. church. The auditorium was filled and it was an excellent address. Rev. Mr. Howard kept the audience in laughter for over an hour. His address was interspersed with anecdotes. He told of the work done by temperance people in his home town. Agitation kept down drunkenness.

He said that Indianapolis, Ind., and Rochester, N. Y., are about the same size, but in a year there were 11,000 arrests in Indianapolis and 2,000 in Rochester. He attributed this to the vigilance of temperance workers.

FORMER PASTOR

Rev. W. S. Lockard Will Speak at the Erie Street M. E. Church.

At the Erie street M. E. church next Wednesday evening, Rev. W. S. Lockard, of Rochester, Pa., will speak on "Systematic Giving." He was pastor of the East End Methodist church in 1888, prior to the erection of the present frame church on Pennsylvania avenue.

Meetings were held in the school house and Rev. Mr. Lockard was instrumental in developing the zeal that caused the growth and fervor of the little flock. His old parishioners will be delighted to hear the sermon from his lips next week.

Addressed a Large Audience.

Rev. N. M. Crowe delivered an able address on temperance last evening at the Second Presbyterian church. He discussed the subject from an ethical rather than a political standpoint. There was a large audience.

Ill of Pneumonia.

Frank McBee is dangerously ill with pneumonia at his home on Pennsylvania avenue. He suffered a relapse from typhoid, but had almost recovered when he became afflicted with pneumonia.

REUNION OF THE EIGHTH

A Large Gathering of O. V. I. Veterans—Captain Sigbee Speaks.

Akron, November 21.—The members of the Eighth Ohio regiment, which was the only Ohio regiment to see service in Cuba during the Spanish-American war, are now holding a two days' reunion in this city. The regiment was better known as the "President's Own." It is calculated that there are between 300 and 400 members of the regiment in the city, including most of the officers.

The headquarters of the regiment during the sessions is in Grand Army hall, where at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon a reception was tendered to Charles S. Sigbee, captain of the Maine when sunk in Havana harbor. At a meeting last night Mayor W. B. Doyle delivered an address of welcome, responded to by Colonel Curtis V. Hard, of Wooster. Addresses were made by General Dick, Captain Sigbee, Colonel Vollrath, of Bucyrus, now commanding the Eighth Ohio N. G., and others.

NO PAY TILL FEBRUARY

City Officials of Akron Already Have Salaries Four Months Overdue.

Akron, November 21.—Judge D. J. Nye has decided a suit brought to restrain city officials from issuing $168,000 bonds to pay accumulated general debts and current expenses and make perpetual injunction against the bond issue by granting an injunction.

It means that the city officials and employees will receive no pay until the February apportionment of taxes shall be received. Their salaries are already four months overdue. The general assembly will be asked to allow the city to issue bonds.

"When your letter came, having received no help from any direction, our burden had become very heavy indeed. Now we are lifted up with the new courage and stronger faith in the Lord. I rely fully on the prayers and efforts of our friends, known and unknown."

"Present my loving greetings to your mother and family and inform my co-workers that I do not cease to pray for them. I have written the particulars of our condition to Mr. Dickinson and you may ask him to see my letter. I only add here that we have preserved our general health despite all our trials."

"I hardly hoped to hear that my mother was yet alive. If you write her a word of comfort and also my brothers, God will bless you."

"THE BIG STORE"

Most of the important football games have been played earlier this season than in former years. This arrangement is not due to any agreement by managers previous to making up their schedules, but results from some strange combination of circumstances. The season is thereby shortened considerably, and Thanksgiving day, which usually closes the pigskin season with a blare of trumpets and a flourish of colors, must be content with a limited number of contests, few of which are of more than local importance.

Probably the most interesting Thanksgiving day game in the east will be the annual match between West Point Military and Annapolis Naval academies. Philadelphia will be the scene of action. The antagonistic forces will form in lines of battle on Franklin field, across the magnificent new gridiron which the University of Pennsylvania established for wearers of the Quaker red and blue.

Society has full sway at the game between Uncle Sam's jack tars and his dapper soldier boys. Army and navy officers in full uniform, together with wives, daughters and sweethearts in gala dress, enliven the stands, giving an attractive and picturesque atmosphere to the event.

West Point will probably defeat the sailor lads. Both teams have proved themselves worthy opponents for the larger college elevens, but the soldiers appear to have the best of the argument to date. Whether or not the playful cadets will require the services of their old friend Tabasco Sauce in pulling out a victory is, of course, a matter of conjecture. Their well known fondness for the article in question will hardly permit of their ignoring its services even in a football game.

Harold Weekes of Columbia university is unquestionably one of the greatest half backs that ever donned the moleskin. He will be placed in the All America eleven for 1901 by every competent and authoritative judge of play.

Weekes acquired considerable fame last year by reason of his "hurdling." He perfected the art of jumping over the line on center plays and seldom failed to gain the necessary five yards. He has continued the play with increased success, crashing through the opposition like a battering ram. In end running Weekes has few if any equals, to say nothing of superiors. His defensive work is superb.

The execution of the famous hurdle is comparatively simple, yet it requires a man of nerve, great muscular power and hardihood. Weekes plays at Columbia's left half. When the hurdle signal is called, the left guard bends low, forcing, if possible, his opposite to the ground. In the meantime Weekes has started for the line with terrific momentum, taking the leather from the quarter back in his flight. With a bound he rises on the shoulders or back of the left guard and lunges forward, propelled by his own effort and the weight of the full back, quarter back and the other half back, who follow up the play.

Mayor Harrison dealt a solar plexus blow to the numerous followers of this line of sport when he declared that clubs organized for the purpose of carrying on sparring matches or bouts would not be tolerated. HAROLD WEEKES, THE GREAT HURDLING HALF BACK.

appear to have the best of the argument to date. Whether or not the playful cadets will require the services of their old friend Tabasco Sauce in pulling out a victory is, of course, a matter of conjecture. Their well known fondness for the article in question will hardly permit of their ignoring its services even in a football game.

Harold Weekes of Columbia university is unquestionably one of the greatest half backs that ever donned the moleskin. He will be placed in the All America eleven for 1901 by every competent and authoritative judge of play.

Weekes acquired considerable fame last year by reason of his "hurdling." He perfected the art of jumping over the line on center plays and seldom failed to gain the necessary five yards. He has continued the play with increased success, crashing through the opposition like a battering ram. In end running Weekes has few if any equals, to any nothing of superiors. His defensive work is superb.

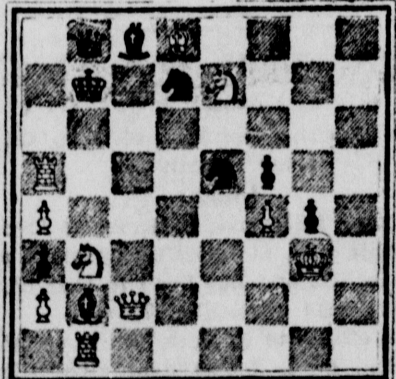

The execution of the famous hurdle is comparatively simple, yet it requires a man of nerve, great muscular power and hardihood. Weekes plays at Columbia's left half. When the hurdle signal is called, the left guard bends low, forcing, if possible, his opposite to the ground. In the meantime Weekes has started for the line with terrific momentum, taking the leather from the quarter back in his flight. With a bound he rises on the shoulders or back of the left guard and lunges forward, propelled by his own effort and the weight of the full back, quarter back and the other half back, who follow up the play.

Chicago Boxers Are Disconsolate.

The boxing game will not be revived in Chicago this winter. Mayor Harrison dealt a solar plexus blow to the numerous followers of this line of sport when he declared that clubs organized for the purpose of carrying on sparring matches or bouts would not be tolerated. With the coming on of cold weather plans for a number of such clubs have been made, and there was a rumor that there would be a return to old boxing days or at least a slight letting down of the bars which practically killed the game in Chicago last winter.

"Oh, I haven't got the money," she answered, "but the accounts show that I have saved it just the same."—Chicago Post.

A PROTECTIVE TARIFF

Declared For By Reciprocity Convention, In Resolutions Adopted.

RECIPROCITY TREATIES FAVORED

Only Where Our Home Interests of Manufacturing, Farming or Commerce Will Not Be Injured—New Cabinet Department Wanted.

Washington, Nov. 21.—The national reciprocity convention finished its work last night and adjourned sine die. Several important resolutions embodying the views of the convention on reciprocity and other matters were adopted. They provide as follows:

First—That this convention recommends to congress the maintenance of the principle of protection for the home market, and to open up by reciprocity opportunities for increased foreign trade by special modifications of the tariff in special cases, but only where it can be done without injury to any of our home interests of manufacturing, commerce or farming.

Second—That in order to ascertain the influence of any proposed treaty on our home interests this convention recommends to congress the establishment of a reciprocity commission, which shall be charged with the duty of investigating the condition of any industry and reporting the same to the executive and to congress for guidance in negotiating reciprocal trade agreements.

Third—That this convention recommends to and requests of congress that a new department be created to be called "the department of commerce and industries," the head of which shall be a member of the president's cabinet.

Fourth—That a reciprocity commission be created as a bureau of this new department.

SEVEN TRAINMEN WERE KILLED.

Fourteen Others Injured, Also Three Passengers, in a Collision.

Los Angeles, Cal., Nov. 21.—A fatal collision occurred on the Santa Fe railroad, one mile west of Franconia, Ariz., a switch station 20 miles east of Needles, Cal. Seven trainmen were killed, three passengers and 14 trainmen injured. Three engines were crushed and blown to pieces by an explosion, which followed the collision. Several of the cars took fire and burned up. The dining cars, one on each train, one Pullman and two composite cars, were destroyed.

The dead:
P. M. Elligott, engineer.
P. M. Goldsmith, fireman.
E. F. Barnhardt, barber.
Walter Davorage, waiter.
W. L. Case, fireman.
A. H. Armitage, fireman.
Sam Brown, waiter.

The collision is said to have been due to a disregard of orders by the crew of the westbound train, though full particulars on this point are as yet lacking.

HARDWARE MEN MAY COMBINE.

John Bindley, of Pittsburg, Formerly President of the National Association, Said to Be Interested.

Pittsburg, Nov. 21.—According to a telegram from New York, leading hardware interests of that city and Chicago have been offered $20,000,000 for their properties by the National Hardware company, the $100,000,000 combine now being formed. Agents of the combine declare they have received sufficient assurance from hardware interests to assure the success of the enterprise in Chicago.

John Bindley, formerly president of the National Association of Hardware Jobbers, the telegram says, is at the head of the delegation which is endeavoring to make Chicago the head of the hardware combine.

An effort was made to see Mr. Bindley, but at his office it was said he was out of the city and would not be home for several days. It was not known whether he was out of the city on business in connection with the formation of the hardware combine or not.

AGAINST ALTOONA MERCHANTS.

Perpetual Injunction Against Using Outside Collecting Agency—Another Injunction Continued.

Altoona, Pa., Nov. 21.—Judge Bell has handed down his decision in cases wherein a West Virginia collecting agency has attached the wages of the Pennsylvania railroad employees in this city for debts owing to local merchants. He makes perpetual the injunction against the merchants, restraining them from assigning their bad accounts to persons outside the state for collection under the laws of another state. In the matter of the Pennsylvania railroad garnishee, in all the cases he continues the injunction pending further orders of the court.

The collecting agents' counsel refused to agree to make any of the four cases brought test cases. Counsel for the shopmen are now preparing to bring suit in every one of the 398 cases remaining.

AMERICAN Versus FILIPINO

By Major General ELWELL S. OTIS, Ex-Military Governor of the Philippines

CAN SCARCELY BELIEVE THAT THE INHABITANTS OF OUR NEW POSSESSIONS WILL EVER INDULGE IN THE SAME MENTAL REFLECTIONS OR PURSUE THE SAME AVENUES OF THOUGHT THAT WE DO.

Our political system, our domestic institutions, our habits of life, are but the perfected results obtained by a race true to its early instincts, following its tendencies as if led by an inexorable fate. Our religious beliefs, our laws for the government of society and political bodies and our social practices are all spontaneous. The educated, practical individualism which per se is the slow growth to our people and part ancestors.

It is this civilization ited that you are en upon the people of our possessions. They have ilization, acute mental tions, lively imaginations, logical abilities and aesthetic culture. BUT CONSIDERED AS CLASSES NATURAL DECEIT HAS NEVER BEEN SUPPLANTED BY AN INNATE LOVE OF TRUTH, CHARACTERISTIC CRUELTY HAS NEVER BEEN DISPLACED BY THE DICTATES OF EDUCATED HUMANITY, NOR HAS THE NATIVE DESIRE FOR RETALIATION GIVEN WAY TO A LOVE OF JUSTICE NOR LICENSE TO THE UNCHANGING FORMS OF LAW. Within the same province or territory the fairly educated and densely ignorant both may be found, the latter being very largely predominant.

On these people you propose to ingraft our practices, habits of life and opinions. IT IS A DIFFICULT UNDERTAKING AND WILL REQUIRE LONG AND ARDUOUS EFFORT. I have hopes in ultimate success, but the country must exercise patience and persistence.

to themselves for some time past. The fact that no further gold would go out today beyond the $500,000 engaged Tuesday afforded some relief from the feeling of depression, there having been apprehension that the French steamer sailing today would carry away several million dollars. The professional bulls sought to stimulate this into a renewed movement for the advance, and in this intent there was large buying and active manipulation of a limited number of stocks at the hands of speculative pools. The growing evidence of a common purpose among the executives of northwestern states to combat the purposes of the Northern Securities company and to seek the aid of additional legislation for that purpose has an unsettling influence upon sentiment. Much remains to be cleared up regarding the actual organization and operation of the settlement which was the object of that company's formation. The public is still absolutely uninformed as to what securities or considerations have been passed by which the Union Pacific was allowed to share the control of Burlington. If the balance of power in the northwest is to be maintained only by actual holdings in the Northern Securities company, it is not clear how either of the parties can afford to bring to market the bare minority of the holdings by which it was calculated there would be a release of a part of the immense capital which was locked up in the struggle for control. The trans-continental stocks generally continued to show depression in spite of the efforts to get prices higher at other points. The local tractions continued in large demand, but were irregular on occasional realizing, and there was strength in the coalers, New Jersey Central particularly rising 6 1/4 on rumors of a coming increase in dividend. The Vanderbilts developed marked strength at advances of 1 1/2 to 3, following the sale of 500 shares of Michigan Central at 140. Peoples Gas was forced down an extreme 3 1/2 to 9 1/2 in the late dealings on the news of the heavy appraisalment for taxation fixed by the Illinois state board of equalization. The money market was distinctly easier Wednesday and the rate for call loans did not rise at all to 5 per cent, which has been the recent maximum, and fell away decidedly in the late dealings.

Business in railroad bonds was irregular. Total sales, par value, $2,295,000. U. S. old 4s advanced 1/8 per cent on the last call.

New York Police Captain Indicted.

New York, Nov. 21.—The grand jury returned an indictment against Police Captain James Gannon, charging him with neglect of duty. Gannon, who was formerly in charge of West Twentieth street station, it is claimed, failed to suppress a disorderly house, of the existence of which he is alleged to have had knowledge.

New Bishop Elected.

The industrial commission has issued a report on railway labor in the United States. It shows that railway employees in this country constitute an army of nearly 1,000,000 people, with probably nearly 5,000,000 people dependent upon the wages paid by railroads. An increasing number of railway employees is to be looked for each year for many years. It is a line of industry full of rich possibilities for young men who enter it with the determination of achieving success. In railroading it is merit that wins, and "pulls" counts for little. Even the sons of millionaire magnates find it necessary to begin at the lowest round of the ladder and serve apprenticeship in shops or on engines or trains before they are entrusted with positions of responsibility.

Another set of New York swindlers who waxed fat on the credulous ones who looked for fabulous profits from small investments have come to grief and closed up shop. Don't those investors in blind pools ever stop to think? And if their thinking apparatus has not gone wrong, how can they be such fools to believe that a man who has discovered the secret of making money yield him 10 per cent profit weekly would prefer investing other people's cash rather than his own? A small percentage of such profit, if he could insure investors of it, would enable him to command millions, instead of advertising for greenhorns, servant girls and clerks and inviting them to put in a dollar at a time.

An interview with Dr. von Holleben, the German ambassador, recently printed, shows that the German government has no intention of challenging the Monroe doctrine. It is not trying to secure even a coaling station in South America or the West Indies and has no thought of ever attempting to acquire the slightest territorial concessions in that quarter. German hostility to America and Americans exists more in European correspondents' imaginations than in reality. The Germans may be jealous of the United States' industrial and commercial prosperity, but they admire our people and our government and are not courting the enmity of either.

William E. Curtis, the well-known American correspondent, now in Bulgaria, says in a recent letter: "The abduction of Miss Stone may possibly be the means of attracting the attention of Christendom to the cry from Macedonia that has been ignored with criminal indifference. Unspeakable horrors have been constantly occurring in this corner of the earth, and will continue to occur so long as Turks are permitted to govern Christian communities." Jealousy and rivalry among powerful nations keep them from interfering, while Christians suffer. The condition that exists is a reproach to civilization.

President Roosevelt's declaration that merit alone shall determine his course in making army appointments and promotions is said to have raised a storm. Such a storm is one which the president will withstand with comfort and satisfaction. His position is absolutely unassailable.

The imperial government is about to circulate among the people of the German empire millions of leaflets informing the masses how to guard against tuberculosis of which 100,000 Germans die each year. The government urges the people to boil the milk they use.

avoid excess of alcohol and tobacco, to sleep in cool rooms, and to quit the use of beer, tea and coffee. Women are told to abandon long skirts and all are advised to take plentiful exercise, eat nourishing food, sleep long and guard the general state of their health. Incidentally, kissing is condemned as highly dangerous.

The South Porto Rico Sugar company has awarded a contract for about 1,000 tons of structural material and will spend over $1,000,000 in purchasing American material for the equipment of its plant in the island. This is doubtless only a forerunner of coming investments by which both Americans and Porto Ricans will profit.

Cuba is exhibiting a great desire to secure absolute free trade with the United States. Well, it ought not to take long for her statesmen to learn how to get it. It will be but a short time until Cuba will be loudly knocking at Uncle Sam's door for admission to the union.

Why is it that a man who declares at the outset of his speech that he has nothing to say thinks it necessary to talk a column, when his auditors stand ready to take his word for it?

The kinetoscope man missed a fine opportunity if he failed to get pictures of the different "engagements" in the revolution which has now come to a full stop at Colon.

The protection wall will stand. Democratic efforts to split it will not succeed because we have had too many horrible examples of the results of such effort.

AT THE THEATER

One of the greatest successes in the history of farce comedy has been achieved this season by that bright musical mix-up, "A Rag Time Reception," which will be the attraction of the Grand Saturday night. The play is a bright up-to-date comedy brim full of catchy songs, clever dances and laughable situations and fun follows the rise of the curtain fast and furious, the very latest New York vaudeville features have been secured and are cleverly interwoven in the action of the play.

In Rene de Froisao, "A Cavalier of France," E. R. Spencer has found a most attractive and congenial role. He lacks none of the fire and magnetism so essential to this line of impersonation and Rene de Froisao is a character lacking in none of the elements that go to make the bravest cavalier the truest friend and the tenderest lover that the age of romantic heroes has given to the stage. It will appear at the Grand opera house Monday night.

A large-sized audience was present at the opera house last night to witness "Old Arkansas." The performance was enjoyed to some extent, but was not of a nature to be associated with the better class of attractions. Some of the acting was exceptionally good, but several members of the cast showed a painful lack of ability. The express train scene was "out of sight." The lights were lowered so that the spectators could not see this "realistic" feature.

Strange Lapse of Memory.

Cases of forgetfulness on matters of interest are on record. While Dr. Priestley was preparing his work entitled "Harmony of the Gospels" he had taken great pains to inform himself on a subject which had been under discussion relative to the Jewish Passover. He wrote out the result of his researches and laid the paper away. His attention and time being taken with something else, some little time elapsed before the subject occurred to his mind again. Then the same time and pains were given to the subject that had been given to it before, and the results were again put on paper and laid aside. So completely had he forgotten that he had copied the same paragraphs and reflections before that it was only when he had found the papers on which he had transcribed them that it was recalled to his recollection. This same author had frequently read his own published writings and did not recognize them.

DREDGE BOAT STRUCK

HIDDEN GAS MAIN.

Pittsburg, Nov. 21.—While dredging sand in the Monongahela river at Clairton, 20 miles above Pittsburg, at 2 o'clock yesterday morning, the dredge boat Vigilant struck a hidden gas main. An explosion followed, setting the boat on fire. The crew of 11 narrowly escaped with their lives. The boat was a total wreck. It was owned by the Iron City Sand company.

AGUINALDA WISHES

TO VISIT CONGRESS.

Manila, Nov. 21.—Aguinaldo has written General Chaffee, the military governor of the Philippines, asking the latter's permission to go before congress and express the desires of the Philippine people. Aguinaldo further requests to be accompanied by eight friends, whom he designates, four of whom are prisoners at Guam, while the others are prominent in Manila.

POTTERY NEWS

Charles Howell Cook and Daniel Willets have been selected to represent the Trenton Manufacturing Pottery Association at the manufacturers' reciprocity convention at Washington if the action of the convention is not antagonistic to the pottery interests of the city.

The question before the convention is, "What Sort of Reciprocity Is Favored?" The participation of members of the American Free Trade League in the convention evidently means that an attempt will be made toward tariff reform. Such a movement will not be favored by the Trenton Manufacturing Pottery Association, says the Trenton True American.

Mr. Cook says that the pottery trade was never as prosperous as it is now and any change in tariff might prove disastrous. Mr. Cook thought that it would be unwise to enter into any tariff legislation and that the convention should confine itself to discussing other means for the increase of our foreign trade. Suggestions will be made at the convention as to the best policy to pursue toward securing a foreign market for American goods. Such a discussion would entail the pottery interests of Trenton, as considerable ware is shipped from here to foreign countries.

The machinery at the Lisbon pottery is being tested this week, but will probably not be started before December 1. The company expected to begin work this week, but were forced to make some changes. The plant is equipped with three plunge mills and two 72-chamber presses, one flint mill, three clay and two color mills. There will be forty benches for pressers and seven jiggers. The clay working shop is well constructed, due consideration having been given to the admission of light and proper ventilation. The machinery was all furnished by C. W. Raymond & Co., of Dayton, and is up-to-date. The plant will be heated by steam and lighted by electricity. The plant has six regular kilns and four decorating kilns. It is expected to have the first kiln of decorated ware through about the first of the year. Semi-porcelain in dinner and toilet ware is to be produced.

The Toronto pottery is crowded with orders, says the Toronto Tribune. Manager Harry Thompson says the company has all the orders it can fill. The demand for ware is great, but prices are not so high as in some former years. This is partly owing to the larger number of new potteries which have been erected and put into operation in this country in recent years. Formerly there was a strong prejudice among Americans against home-made ware, and this was greatly to the advantage of the English manufacturers and against our own; but now this prejudice is fast disappearing and in fact is almost gone, and this is making a greatly increased demand for home-made ware.

Homer Jackson left yesterday afternoon for an eastern trip in the interest of the American Queensware company.

tered upon his career. His preliminary education was obtained at the Richmond academy, in his native town. In 1866 he removed to St. Louis and entered Washington university, from which institution he was graduated in 1870.

Soon after that he engaged in business, and his success as a business man was early pronounced, and his qualities of sagacity, energy and enterprise speedily obtained recognition among his associates. In 1883 he was elected vice president of the St. Louis Merchants' Exchange.

It was in 1885 that David R. Francis became the nominee of the Democratic party for mayor of the city of St. Louis and was elected. While in that office he was called to the head of the state government, being elected governor of Missouri in the Democratic ticket. In 1896 he entered the cabinet of President Cleveland as secretary of the interior. When the celebration of the centennial of the Louisiana purchase was determined upon, ex-Governor Francis was called upon by the promoters of the great enterprise to direct the affairs of the World's fair.

THE CHICKEN YARD.

No henhouse that is frequently dusted with lime will be infested with lice. Lime purifies the quarters and dries them. It is cheap and should be used plentifully.

Always have the nests so low that the hens can step in rather than be obliged to jump down.

Mating birds to breed to a feather is a high art, to be acquired only by long practice, aided by close study.

A flat perch is best because of being the most comfortable to the feet and the best support to the breast.

The industrial commission has issued a report on railway labor in the United States. It shows that railway employees in this country constitute an army of nearly 1,000,000 people, with probably nearly 5,000,000 people dependent upon the wages paid by railroads. An increasing number of railway employees is to be looked for each year for many years. It is a line of industry full of rich possibilities for young men who enter it with the determination of achieving success. In railroad work it is merit that wins, and "pulls" counts for little. Even the sons of millionaire magnates find it necessary to begin at the lowest round of the ladder and serve apprenticeship in shops or on engines or trains before they are entrusted with positions of responsibility.

Another set of New York swindlers who waxed fat on the credulous ones who looked for fabulous profits from small investments have come to grief and closed up shop. Don't those investors in blind pools ever stop to think? And if their thinking apparatus has not gone wrong, how can they be such fools to believe that a man who has discovered the secret of making money yield him 10 per cent profit weekly would prefer investing other people's cash rather than his own? A small percentage of such profit, if he could insure investors of it, would enable him to command millions, instead of advertising for greenhorns, servant girls and clerks and inviting them to put in a dollar at a time.

An interview with Dr. von Holleben, the German ambassador, recently printed, shows that the German government has no intention of challenging the Monroe doctrine. It is not trying to secure even a coaling station in South America or the West Indies and has no thought of ever attempting to acquire the slightest territorial concessions in that quarter. German hostility to America and Americans exists more in European correspondents' imaginations than in reality. The Germans may be jealous of the United States' industrial and commercial prosperity, but they admire our people and our government and are not courting the enmity of either.

William E. Curtis, the well-known American correspondent, now in Bulgaria, says in a recent letter: "The abduction of Miss Stone may possibly be the means of attracting the attention of Christendom to the cry from Macedonia that has been ignored with criminal indifference. Unspeakable horrors have been constantly occurring in this corner of the earth, and will continue to occur so long as Turks are permitted to govern Christian communities." Jealousy and rivalry among powerful nations keep them from interfering, while Christians suffer. The condition that exists is a reproach to civilization.

President Roosevelt's declaration that merit alone shall determine his course in making army appointments and promotions is said to have raised a storm. Such a storm is one which the president will withstand with comfort and satisfaction. His position is absolutely unassailable.

The imperial government is about to circulate among the people of the German empire millions of leaflets informing the masses how to guard against tuberculosis of which 100,000 Germans die each year. The government urges the people to boil the milk they use, avoid excess of alcohol and tobacco, to sleep in cool rooms, and to quit the use of beer, tea and coffee. Women are told to abandon long skirts and all are advised to take plentiful exercise, eat nourishing food, sleep long and guard the general state of their health. Incidentally, kissing is condemned as highly dangerous.

The South Porto Rico Sugar company has awarded a contract for about 1,000 tons of structural material and will spend over $1,000,000 in purchasing American material for the equipment of its plant in the island. This is doubtless only a forerunner of coming investments by which both Americans and Porto Ricans will profit.

Cuba is exhibiting a great desire to secure absolute free trade with the United States. Well, it ought not to take long for her statesmen to learn how to get it. It will be but a short time until Cuba will be loudly knocking at Uncle Sam's door for admission to the union.

Why is it that a man who declares at the outset of his speech that he has nothing to say thinks it necessary to talk a column, when his auditors stand ready to take his word for it?

The kinetoscope man missed a fine opportunity if he failed to get pictures of the different "engagements" in the revolution which has now come to a full stop at Colon.

THE FIRST FREE SCHOOL

In a Hancock County District Taught By Dallas Pittenger.

Dallas Pittenger, janitor of the city hall, has in his possession a document that he highly prizes. It is a teacher's certificate granted to him in Hancock county, W. Va., by J. S. Pomeroy, county superintendent. The certificate bears the date of December 29, 1864, and it is marked by figures signifying that it was the fifth ever granted in Hancock county and was in the number 2 class.

Mr. Pittenger says that he taught the first free school in his district, but did not like the profession of a padagogue and resigned to take up the life of a farmer. He moved to this city with his family about 20 years ago and has since been employed in a number of different positions. He now acts as a special policeman, with janitorship of the city hall. He is a probable candidate for mayor at the spring election.

WILD RUSH FOR TICKETS

Almost a Panic at a Sale of Seats for an Entertainment.

The McIntosh drug store on Main street was the scene of unparalleled excitement last night. Tickets for the Cavalier of France, to be given for the A. O. E., were put on sale at 7 o'clock. An hour before hand a crowd began to assemble in and about the store for the purpose of getting the desired reserved seats and when the appointed time was up such a scramble for the ticket boards was never before witnessed in this city.

Men and women alike were jostled and jammed and some trampled upon. A general panic resulted, but was finally subdued by the more considerate giving way to the reckless. All miraculously escaped without serious injury, but it was more due to good luck than to good judgment.

ATTACHED THE GOODS

Constable's Services Necessary in Collecting a Bill for $4.50.

Dr. Hutcheson recently learned that Mrs. Minnie Russell, who has been living on the Moorefarm, near the cemetery, was going to move to Chester, W. Va., and there engage in the restaurant business. He went before Squire A. G. Mackenzie and had attachment papers arranged for her household goods on a claim of $4.50.

Constable Thorn kept on the lookout for a moving van laden with Mrs. Russell's effects. Tuesday night he was informed that the goods were packed and ready for shipment at the West End depot. Yesterday morning he placed the attachment and informed Mrs. Russell. She paid the bill and costs.

FRANCHISE ACCEPTED

The East Liverpool Railway Will Meet Council's Terms as to Extension.

The 25-year franchise submitted by the city council Tuesday evening to the East Liverpool Railway company was accepted yesterday by Superintendent Healy.

Councilman Shoub was informed by Mr. Healy that the railway company would carry out in detail the proposition set forth.

Improvements Are Many.

The appearance of Eighth street is undergoing a complete change. A force of men are at work with shovels cleaning the streets and a number of residents along the street are having their pavements improved and otherwise helping the looks of their property.

Has a Contract in Texas.

Felix Irwin, of Irwin Bros., sewer contracting company, was in the city last night en route to Beaumont, Tex., where he will begin the construction of a sewer line. He recently finished a contract at Greenville, Pa.

Hand Badly Mangled.

J. H. Clager, of the West End, had his hand badly mangled yesterday while at work in the C. & P. shops. As a result he will be kept from work for several weeks.

MINOR NEWS OF WELLSVILLE.

The Misses Hamilton will entertain this evening.

Mrs. D. S. Noble, of Main street, is among the sick.

The infant son of Mr. and Mrs. John Glessner is reported sick.

Mr. and Mrs. William Mahan are the guests of Cleveland friends.

Mrs. Charles Neasley left last evening to visit relatives at Canton.

Bert Myers, of Alliance, was visiting Willet Aten and friends yesterday.

Mrs. John McBane and Miss Lizzie McBane went to Alliance yesterday.

Ernest Marineaux has returned to work in the C. & P. yards after three days' illness.

J. C. Catlett, of Main street, is having his store room repaired by having a new floor laid.

Dr. Evans returned last evening from Cleveland. His wife will remain there for the winter.

Mrs. Charles Culbertson departed yesterday for Cleveland to visit her daughter, Mrs. Ryan.

Mrs. D. S. Brookman has returned home from a delightful visit with friends in Washington.

Carl Fawcett, in the city attending the Fawcett-Shipley nuptials, departed for Pittsburgh yesterday.

J. T. Meyers left yesterday for Malvern, where he will be engaged for a few days in laying a new depot platform.

Mrs. Lucy Dorington left for Cincinnati yesterday in response to a letter stating that her daughter, Mrs. Thomas, was very sick.

Cayle Weldon, afflicted with appendicitis, has been gradually growing worse and it was thought last evening that an operation would have to be performed.

Miss Ina Minor, of Nevada street, who has been in a Cleveland hospital for many weeks, returned home. Though a little weak she has hopes of ultimate recovery.

THE LAYING OF CABLES

For This Fall Will Be Completed in About Two Weeks.

The Bell Telephone company cable laying will be completed in East Liverpool within about two weeks—that is, so far as cables for this year are concerned. An endeavor is being made to have the ducts in place by December 1, as the city council will not let streets be torn up after that date.

When freezing weather sets in it is impossible to replace paving in a permanent manner. Superintendent of Construction W. H. Pidgeon will have men busy with the connections for perhaps a few days longer, then the gang will be taken to Belpre, O., opposite Parkersburg, W. Va., where some construction work is to be done. They will put cables in Parkersburg and other towns during the winter months.

CONCRETE WAS GOOD

Breakage in City Reservoir Cannot Be Ascribed to Poor Work.

Water Works Superintendent Morley has received the following letter from Consulting Engineer Hill, of Philadelphia.

"Mr. Philip Morley, Superintendent Water Works, East Liverpool, O.

"Dear Sir—I am just in receipt of a report of the sample of concrete which was cut from the reservoir lining by my orders November 17, and find it broke at a load approximately 2,500 pounds per square inch, equivalent to 180 tons per square foot. This indicates a very excellent concrete, and the breakage of the reservoir cannot very well be ascribed to poor work in this respect.

"Yours truly,
"JOHN W. HILL,

FOR THE NEW WORKS

SWITCHES BEING PLACED FOR METAL PLANT.

Large Crew at Work Preparing the Removal of Works From Canal Dover.

The Panhandle work train with a gang of 150 men and three engines today began the construction of several switches east of the present tin mill buildings.

The new tracks are to be placed there for service in the construction of buildings that are to go up soon for the corrugated metal works that are to be moved from Canal Dover to Chester.

Everything is bustle in the east end of Chester. There is no longer any wish to conceal the project of moving the Canal Dover plant to West Virginia. It is to be dismantled at once and the available machinery and appliances will be taken to Chester; only the new plant will be much larger and the latest improved machines and devices will be added.

NEW COMPANY

Being Formed to Build a Plant for the Manufacture of Rock Plaster.

A company for a new manufacturing industry is being formed this week. Some Wheeling gentlemen are in the enterprise, but most of the stock will be held by East Liverpool capitalists and the plant will be established in this city or Chester.

It is the intention to manufacture rock plaster and ornamental glazed tiling for wainscoting, flooring, etc. A well known contractor of East Liverpool is in the venture, also other men whose means and credibility are firmly established.

One of the gentlemen, in discussing the subject to a limited extent, said that he did not feel at liberty to outline the personnel of the company for a few days, as they had not as yet obtained a site for the plant, but that a location in either East Liverpool or Chester would be procured.

He further stated that as soon as they had the ground, building would commence and, when in operation, the concern would employ a large number of men.

CANDIDATES NAMED

For Chester Citizens' Ticket—Three in the Majority Race.

A citizens' meeting was held last evening in Mechanics' hall. Nominations for municipal offices were made with two councilmanic places to fill which will be done at another meeting to be held Tuesday night.

H. H. Piper, a tin mill master mechanic, is named for mayor; Chauncey Mercer for recorder; Stephen M. Seyres, Henry Riley and Christian Wetzel for councilmen. It is said that Joseph Hough will probably be one of the nominees for council.

The administration ticket has not been formally chosen, but it is said to be settled that the present recorder, John Marshall, will run for mayor. The present mayor, Robert Dunn, will not seek a second term, but will stand for council. Howard Maxwell will run for recorder on the administration ticket.

Another movement is on foot to nominate John Shrader for mayor. It is said that Mr. Shrader will consent to make the race. With three men in the field for mayor the contest waxed warm.

A SERIOUS FALL

Thomas Stewart Gets a Tumble in a Barn And Breaks an Arm.

Thomas Stewart, who resides two miles southeast of Chester, had a serious fall yesterday. He was pitching hay from the feed room in a bank barn to some cattle below and accidentally lost his balance. He tumbled through the loft hole to the basement below.

One of the bones of his lower right arm was broken and he was skinned and bruised about the face and chest.

His Ankle Broken.

Edward Hadley, a bricklayer at the tin mill, had his left ankle badly fractured yesterday afternoon and will be laid up at his home, a mile south of Chester, for a few days. A tender was pitching bricks to Hadley and one of them struck him on the foot, causing the injury.

Warrant Released.

Justice W. C. Johnston has released the distress warrant and attachment against the effects of Allen Meek Thomas Cunningham, in whose house Meek resided, claimed $20 due for rent. Meek took advantage of the $200 exemption act, but settled the account.

CHESTER NOTES.

Mrs. William Anderson has returned from a visit to Sebring.

Thomas Ewing is dangerously ill at his home two miles south of Chester, with inflammation of the bowels.

Blind Judge Morris.

On one occasion, in trying an abduction case, Lord Morris, once chief justice of Ireland, addressed the jury as follows: "I am compelled to direct you to find a verdict of guilty in this case, but you will easily see that I think it is a trifling thing, which I regard as quite unfit to occupy my time. It is more valuable than yours. At any rate, it is much better paid for. Find, therefore, the prisoner guilty of abduction, which rests, mind ye, on four points—the father was not averse, the mother was not opposed, the girl was willing and the boy was convulsed."

The jury found the prisoner guilty, and the judge sentenced him to remain in the dock till the rising of the court. Hardly had he delivered sentence than, turning to the sheriff, Lord Morris said: "Let us go," and, looking at the prisoner, he called across the court, "Marry the girl at once, and God bless you both."

How High Birds Fly.

A Strassburg aeronaut says he has seen an eagle at the height of 3,000 yards, and again a pair of storks and a buzzard 900 yards above the sea level. On March 10, 1890, some aeronauts observed a lark flying at a height of 1,000 yards. On July 18, 1890, another balloon met a couple of crows at an altitude of 1,400 yards. These, however, are exceptions. Birds are hardly ever seen above a height of 1,000 yards; even above 400 yards they are not frequent.

A Relic of Peter the Great.

The cottage where Peter the Great dwelt when he was learning the trade of shipbuilding in Zaaradam, Holland, still exists, though somewhat dilapidated. It contains the rude furniture which the great Peter used—a bedstead, table and two chairs. It is incased in a building erected for the purpose, and over the mantel is a tablet erected by Alexander of Russia in 1814.

Pacing a Natural Gait.

The pacing habit is common among animals, says a writer in Scribner's Magazine. Many animals pace—cattle, for instance; and, among dogs, setters. I believe pacing to be a rather more natural gait than trotting. Trotting, as it exists in our fast horses, is scarcely a natural gait, but is rather the result of breeding and education.

U. S. BLUE JACKETS LANDED.

Protect Colon End of Isthmus Railroad—Colon Captured by Colombian Rebels.

Washington, Nov. 21.—A dispatch has been received at the navy department from Commander McCrea saying that 100 blue jackets had been landed from the Machias at Colon and had taken charge of the railway station. This was not done because of any further disturbances, but as a matter of precaution.

An early dispatch from Consul General Gudgeon announced that a considerable number of the liberals had taken possession of the railroad across the isthmus, cut the telegraph wires and took up a rail. Then came a later dispatch saying: "Colon has been taken by the liberals." Shortly afterward Consul Malmros, at Colon, reported: "Colon was taken last night by the rebels. While all business is suspended, transit across the isthmus is not interrupted. American life and property are safe and not likely to be endangered."

In instructing Consul General Gudgeon to notify all the parties engaged in interrupting free transit across the isthmus that such interference must cease, the state department directs him to consult with Captain Parry, of the Iowa. Captain Parry is instructed by the navy department to land marines if necessary for the protection of free transit in accordance with the treaty of rights and obligations of the United States, but he is enjoined to avoid bloodshed if possible.

Colon, Colombia, Nov. 21.—Twelve men were killed and 30 wounded during the fighting here.

PREPARED FOR REVOLUTION.

Canadians Got Ready For Attack. Americans Co-Operated in Steps to Suppress It.

Toronto, Ont., Nov. 21.—Special dispatches from Vancouver, published here, said in part:

"Some hair-brained Americans drew up plans for forcibly deposing the government and police in the Yukon. Major Woods, N. W. M. P., discovered the scheme and took prompt steps to suppress it. American officials at Skagway co-operating. The discovery of the scheme is supposed to have nipped it in the bud.

"The Yukon police force consists of about 250 men, who are provided with Lee-Enfields. When the scheme was first discovered Maxim and Colt guns were mounted at White Horse, which was the first place to be attacked. Mayor Snyder, in charge of the police there, also received reinforcements and patrols were kept on duty night and day. It is said the scheme originated in Seattle, and $250,000 was available to aid the venture. The information has been obtained from ex-police officers of the Yukon force and members of the gambling fraternity who have come to the coast cities for the winter, and is guardedly confirmed by the officials who have just come down from the north."

STRUCK AGAINST DOCTOR.

Men on Railroad Contracting Work Granted Their Demands.

Altoona, Pa., Nov. 21.—H. S. Kerbaugh, the railroad contractor doing work at Wilmore and vicinity, had an odd strike on his hands earlier in the week. It seems the laborers objected to the doctor provided to care for them, claiming he was no good, and asked that he be discharged. His treatment of recent cases was not up to their standard of excellence. Kerbaugh promised to investigate, but he did not act quick enough, so the men struck. After the doctor was fired they returned to work.

Each laborer pays a small fixed sum monthly for the doctor's services, the general sum totaling over $200.

To Secure Iglesias' Release.

Washington, Nov. 21.—President Gompers, of the American Federation of Labor, after consulting members of the executive council, cabled $500 to Mr. Sidney McKee at San Juan, Porto Rico, with a request that he use it as cash bail for the purpose of obtaining the release of Iglesias.

Failed to Rob Bank.

Ravenswood, W. Va., Nov. 21.—Five men worked two hours on the safe of the Jackson county bank and succeeded in wrecking it all except the money box, and so obtained nothing. Three men who discovered them were kept quiet at the point of a revolver until the burglars made their escape.

THE FIRST FREE SCHOOL

In a Hancock County District Taught
By Dallas Pitt-tenger.

Dallas Pittenger, janitor of the city hall, has in his possession a document that he highly prizes. It is a teacher's certificate granted to him in Hancock county, W. Va., by J. S. Pomerooy, county superintendent. The certificate bears the date of December 29, 1864, and it is marked by figures signifying that it was the fifth ever granted in Hancock county and was in the number 2 class.

Mr. Pittenger says that he taught the first free school in his district, but did not like the profession of a padagogue and resigned to take up the life of a farmer. He moved to this city with his family about 20 years ago and has since been employed in a number of different positions. He now acts as a special policeman, with janitorship of the city hall. He is a probable candidate for mayor at the spring election.

WILD RUSH FOR TICKETS

Almost a Panic at a Sale of Seats for an Entertainment.

The McIntosh drug store on Main street was the scene of unparalleled excitement last night. Tickets for the Cavalier of France, to be given for the A. O. E., were put on sale at 7 o'clock. An hour before hand a crowd began to assemble in and about the store for the purpose of getting the desired reserved seats and when the appointed time was up such a scramble for the ticket boards was never before witnessed in this city.

Men and women alike were jostled and jammed and some trampled upon. A general panic resulted, but was finally subdued by the more considerate giving way to the reckless. All miraculously escaped without serious injury, but it was more due to good luck than to good judgment.

Blind Judge Morris.

On one occasion, in trying an abduction case, Lord Morris, once chief justice of Ireland, addressed the jury as follows: "I am compelled to direct you to find a verdict of guilty in this case, but you will easily see that I think it is a trifling thing, which I regard as quite unfit to occupy my time. It is more valuable than yours. At any rate, it is much better paid for. Find, therefore, the prisoner guilty of abduction, which rests, mind ye, on four points—the father was not averse, the mother was not opposed, the girl was willing and the boy was convulsant."

The jury found the prisoner guilty, and the judge sentenced him to remain in the dock till the rising of the court. Hardly had he delivered sentence than, turning to the sheriff, Lord Morris said: "Let us go," and, looking at the prisoner, he called across the court, "Marry the girl at once, and God bless you both."

How High Birds Fly.

A Strassburg aeronaut says he has seen an eagle at the height of 3,000 yards, and again a pair of storks and a buzzard 900 yards above the sea level. On March 10, 1890, some aeronauts observed a lark flying at a height of 1,000 yards. On July 18, 1890, another balloon met a couple of crows at an altitude of 1,400 yards. These, however, are exceptions. Birds are hardly ever seen above a height of 1,000 yards; even above 400 yards they are not frequent.

A Relic of Peter the Great.

The cottage where Peter the Great dwelt when he was learning the trade of shipbuilding in Zaaradam, Holland, still exists, though somewhat dilapidated. It contains the rude furniture which the great Peter used—a bedstead, table and two chairs. It is incased in a building erected for the purpose, and over the mantel is a tablet erected by Alexander of Russia in 1814.

Pacing a Natural Gait.

The pacing habit is common among animals, says a writer in Scribner's Magazine. Many animals pace—cattle, for instance; and, among dogs, setters. I believe pacing to be a rather more natural gait than trotting. Trotting, as it exists in our fast horses, is scarcely a natural gait, but is rather the result of breeding and education.

U. S. BLUE JACKETS LANDED.

Protect Colon End of Isthmus Railroad—Colon Captured by Columbian Rebels.

Washington, Nov. 21.—A dispatch has been received at the navy department from Commander McCrea saying that 100 blue jackets had been landed from the Machias at Colon and had taken charge of the railway station. This was not done because of any further disturbances, but as a matter of precaution.

An early dispatch from Consul General Gudgeon announced that a considerable number of the liberals had taken possession of the railroad across the isthmus, cut the telegraph wires and took up a rail. Then came a later dispatch saying: "Colon has been taken by the liberals." Shortly afterward Consul Malmros, at Colon, reported: "Colon was taken last night by the rebels. While all business is suspended, transit across the isthmus is not interrupted. American life and property are safe and not likely to be endangered."

In instructing Consul General Gudgeon to notify all the parties engaged in interrupting free transit across the isthmus that such interference must cease, the state department directs him to consult with Captain Parry, of the Iowa. Captain Parry is instructed by the navy department to land marines if necessary for the protection of free transit in accordance with the treaty of rights and obligations of the United States, but he is enjoined to avoid bloodshed if possible.

Colon, Colombia, Nov. 21.—Twelve men were killed and 30 wounded during the fighting here.

PREPARED FOR REVOLUTION,

Canadians Got Ready For Attack.
Americans Co-Operated in Steps to Suppress It.

Toronto, Ont., Nov. 21.—Special dispatches from Vancouver, published here, said in part:

"Some hair-brained Americans drew up plans for forcibly deposing the government and police in the Yukon. Major Woods, N. W. M. P., discovered the scheme and took prompt steps to suppress it. American officials at Skagway co-operating. The discovery of the scheme is supposed to have nipped it in the bud.

"The Yukon police force consists of about 250 men, who are provided with Lee-Enfields. When the scheme was first discovered Maxim and Colt guns were mounted at White Horse, which was the first place to be attacked. Mayor Snyder, in charge of the police there, also received reinforcements and patrols were kept on duty night and day. It is said the scheme originated in Seattle, and $250,000 was available to aid the venture. The information has been obtained from ex-police officers of the Yukon force and members of the gambling fraternity who have come to the coast cities for the winter, and is guardedly confirmed by the officials who have just come down from the north."

STRUCK AGAINST DOCTOR.

Men on Railroad Contracting Work
Granted Their Demand.

Altoona, Pa., Nov. 21.—H. S. Kerbaugh, the railroad contractor doing work at Wilmore and vicinity, had an odd strike on his hands earlier in the week. It seems the laborers objected to the doctor provided to care for them, claiming he was no good, and asked that he be discharged. His treatment of recent cases was not up to their standard of excellence. Kerbaugh promised to investigate, but he did not act quick enough, so the men struck. After the doctor was fired they returned to work.

Each laborer pays a small fixed sum monthly for the doctor's services, the general sum totaling over $200.

To Secure Iglesias' Release.

Washington, Nov. 21.—President Gompers, of the American Federation of Labor, after consulting members of the executive council, cabled $500 to Mr. Sidney McKee at San Juan, Porto Rico, with a request that he use it as cash bail for the purpose of obtaining the release of Iglesias.

Failed to Rob Bank.

Ravenwood, W. Va., Nov. 21.—Five men worked two hours on the safe of the Jackson county bank and succeeded in wrecking it all except the money box, and so obtained nothing. Three men who discovered them were kept quiet at the point of a revolver until the burglars made their escape.

The Dirigible Balloon ...NOT THE... True Flying Machine

ANTOS-DUMONT has accomplished the best results yet obtained with the dirigible balloon.

By Professor
S. P.
LANGLEY
Inventor of Flying Machines

HE IS WORKING IN THE RIGHT DIRECTION BECAUSE HE SEEKS TO REDUCE THE SIZE OF HIS BALLOON AND INCREASE THE SIZE OF HIS ENGINE. The trouble with all dirigible balloons, and, in fact, all balloons, is that their enormous size practically prevents their progress against a head wind. This obstacle Santos-Dumont seeks to overcome, and his recent successful trip shows that he has succeeded in a measure in diminishing the almost insuperable difficulties in the way of making the balloon the best means of aerial locomotion.

The trials which I witnessed impressed me with the ability, energy and courage of Santos-Dumont, but I need hardly say that I do not think he begins in the best way. THE BEST WAY WILL BE TO DIMINISH THE BALLOON INDEFINITELY UNTIL IT DISAPPEARS ALTOGETHER, LEAVING THE TRUE "FLYING MACHINE." MY EXPERIMENTS WITH THE AERODROME HAVE CONVINCED ME THAT A MACHINE OF THIS CHARACTER WILL FLY. I HAVE THE BEST REASON IN THE WORLD FOR THIS, FOR ON SEVERAL OCCASIONS TWO DIFFERENT MACHINES CONSTRUCTED BY ME HAVE FLOWN. The first flight took place at Quantico, Va., May 6, 1898. Until this experiment I do not believe, with the exception of a toy by Penaud, a Frenchman, that anything made by man ever flew.

could never under any provocation have been so unscrupulous a dirt as was the supposed Lybbie. And, by the way, it would not be a bad idea for the incident of the pens to be left out, as it serves no purpose but to annoy the audience and to make Miss Adams look very awkward. It does not enhance the interest and is therefore of no value.

Miss Adams is a charming Phoebe and is surrounded with an excellent cast, each member of which is most convincing in the delineation of his or her character. The inquisitive neighbors were drawn to the life, and the minor part of the recruiting sergeant was made to stand out. Valentine Brown (Sydney Brough) was well played, while much praise must be given to Helen Lowell for her splendid work as the timid, dependent but loving maiden sister Susan Throssell. Marion Abbott as Patty was excellent.

But why will everybody in "Quality Street" insist on saying "Syusan" for Susan?

"Under Southern Skies," by Lottie Blair Parker, now running at the Theater Republic, is the vehicle in which William A. Brady is exploiting Grace George. This very attractive and ambitious little woman is shown to us as a miss of eighteen, enjoying her birthday celebration with a Halloween party. Miss George gives a sweet performance of Lella Crofton, and her friends can only regret that there is not more opportunity for something greater than sweetness, gentleness and docility. There is one moment when at the end of the third act she is given a strong situation, and she is perfect in it. It is a trying position for her, as she has to hold it through several curtains, but it is strong and very effective. Miss George is pretty, bright and young and as the simple southern girl is true and convincing.

It is a pity that the same mistake is made in "Under Southern Skies" which is made in almost every play where, reduced southern life is to be depicted. A number of negroes bobbing up on every occasion, regardless of plausibility, joining in conversation with anybody; southern flowers and costumes, and the mistaken coaching of the characters to make them speak like illiterate half breeds seem to be considered enough to make a southern atmosphere when in reality it frustrates its own ends. "Under Southern Skies" is a conventional little play with a touch of melodrama, plenty of brightness and some very pretty sentiment and much pretty language, but it is too thin as to opportunity for a star, and Miss George has not yet found the proper vehicle for a great success. This little lady has ability, but she now has little chance to show it. She is all she can be in the part, and more cannot be said.

The scenery is beautiful, especially in the first act, where one can almost smell the southern flowers. The costumes are faithful to the period and the birthday gifts true to life, though again the atmosphere is lost. It is not a southern custom to bring your gifts with you to a party. I doubt if All Halloween was ever generally celebrated at the south, though in this I may be mistaken, but it did not strike a familiar chord in me. It was pretty enough, but not local. George C. Staley as Major Edward Crofton, Lella's father, gave the best performance after Miss George, while Burr McIntosh as Colonel Paul Daubeny was true to life. Grace Henderson, Ralph Stuart, Guyler Hastings and Will H. Bray gave good performances of Stella Crofton, Burleigh Mavor, Steve Daubeny and Uncle Joshua respectively. Anner

Lizer was admirably well played by Virginia Glyndon.

That sterling romantic actor Otis Skinner is to have another chance in New York. It is probable that the average star overestimates the importance of a Gotham endorsement, but it cannot be denied that there are very few players of prominence who will not move heaven and earth to get a Broadway theater for a short run each season.

Last year Mr. Skinner came into New York with "Prince Otto" and scored a striking success at Wallack's theater. Ordinarily thereafter time would have been offered him at many houses, but conditions in the theatrical world are scarcely normal just now, and Mr. Skinner must be content with what the magnates may condescend to dole out to him. It is gratifying, therefore, to learn that he will be given New York opportunity with "Francesca da Rimini," his vehicle for the present season. This was really Lawrence Barrett's favorite play, and according to the critics who have seen Mr. Skinner's production it is better in most respects than that offered by Mr. Barrett.

"Francesca da Rimini," by the way, appears to have assisted to a great extent in determining the line of work with which William Norris, no less volens, will be hereafter identified. He has the part of the Jester Pepe, a similar role to his Adonis in "In the Palace of the King," in which he scored his greatest success last year with Viola Allen. Now it is certain that whenever a manager has a jester role he will think of no one but Norris for it, with the probable result that this extraordinarily versatile player will find himself restricted to one class of characters.

"The Sleeping Beauty and the Beast," the imported fairy spectacle now on view at the Broadway theater, is playing to the largest business at regular prices ever known in this city. The production richly merits the success it has achieved, for nothing even approaching it in magnificence or magnitude has been exploited in the United States, and, what is more, a cast of unusual length and quality has been provided, so that the entertainment is a feast for the ear as well as for the eye. It is likely that "The Sleeping Beauty and the Beast" will run out the season at the Broadway.

Cross country riding is in high favor this season. Seldom if ever have lovers of the grand but expensive pastime turned out in such large numbers. In and about the important cities hunt and country clubs have held what they consider to be the best outings for many a year. Boston, Philadelphia and St. Louis society folk are particularly partial to cross country runs. New Yorkers flock to New Jersey, where the Oranges, Morristown, etc., afford splendid opportunities for the exhilarating sport.

High jumps are by long odds the most dangerous feature of cross country riding. Broad jumps, across ditches, gullies, brooks, etc., are not especially threatening, for if the horse falls the ground or water is but a short distance away. In the "taking" of high fences and hedges, however, the would be centaur should look well to his saddle girths, press his legs and knees tightly against his steed's rounded sides and maintain a strong, steady grasp on the reins. Woe be unto the man who wobbles in the saddle or gives his horse a free head while in midair. Verily his finish doth rapidly approach. A fall by either rider or mount brings serious results. Add fifteen hands, the height of the average horse, to the five or six feet a good hunting equine will rise in clearing an obstruction, and a man finds himself at a point from which he would not willingly choose to be hurled headlong. The tendency of the heavy, plunging horse to topple over on the prostrate rider should be another caution inspiring element.

The American turf congress is a thing of the past if the present outlook is borne out. Dec. 14 the Western Jockey club will hold its annual meeting in Chicago, and its membership will be increased from seven to nine.

The new members will be Angelo S. Cella, a well known Chicago attorney and brother of Louis Cella of the Cella-Adler-Tilles combination, owners of the fair grounds and Delmar park racing plants in St. Louis, and a resident of the Mound City.

At present the members of the Western Jockey club are Lawrence A. Young, Chicago; George G. Perkins, Covington, Ky.; N. Nathanson, Chicago; C. S. Bash, New Orleans; Richard Fitzgerald, Chicago; S. R. Montgomery, Memphis, and W. F. Schulte, Louisville. All of these gentlemen, with the exception of Mr. Schulte, are members of the board of stewards.

The jockey club will recognize the following racing associations during 1902 and allot dates for spring and fall meetings: St. Louis Fair association (club department) of St. Louis, Delmar Park Racing association of St. Louis, New Louisville Jockey club of Louisville, Latonia Jockey club of Covington, New Memphis Jockey club of Memphis, Crescent City Jockey club of New Orleans and the Washington Park and Harlem Jockey clubs of Chicago.

It has been agreed that the meeting at Nashville will be sanctioned by the Western Jockey club, but as to the Newport track no agreement has been made. However, it is said to be the sentiment of the jockey club to sanction a Newport meeting in the spring if application is made.

As to racing in Canada there has been no definite decision.

A History of Trotting and Pacing.

Henry T. Coates of Philadelphia has written and published "A Short History of the American Trotting and Pacing Horse," which will be read with interest by all lovers of "man's best friend." Mr. Coates, who owns many good horses, including the pacing stallion Saladin, 2:05½, says in his preface that the work has been a "labor of love. Loving a horse for himself alone and not rating him as a mere racing machine, to be cast aside when no longer a money getter, the writer has made just such a book as he would give to any one handling his own horses."

BOWLING AS A SPORT FOR WOMEN.

An Indoor Pastime Which Ranks Favorite—Winter Needs of Athletic Femininity.

Women have many and varied sports for summer days, when outdoor life is in order, but when the sun rises late and sets early, when the mercury drops and the wind blows around the chimney corners, she finds but few modes of athletic diversion open to her. Some wise benefactor of femininity should just now appear with a plan for a new indoor sport in which women could find exercise to correspond with that furnished by golf, tennis, rowing, etc. He would thus perform a service for the sex that would entitle him to a niche in the temple of fame.

Basket ball was hailed two or three years ago as an ideal sport for women who had access to a roomy gymnasium, but for some reason the game did not take a popular hold on feminine fancy. There is one indoor game, however, that has won a warm spot in many a woman's heart. It is bowling, and, although the exercise involved is apt to overdevelop particular muscles to the absolute neglect of others, yet the good old Dutch pastime has a decidedly beneficial influence on sluggish circulations and weak constitutions.

Every sizable city in the country has its women's bowling clubs, which aim to promote the social as well as the physical development side of the sport. Bowling gives a woman a quick, sure eye, a steady hand and self control.

Martin Julian announced some time ago that he had arranged for the return to the United States of Nourouh, better known as "Terrible Turk No. 2," who defeated our leading mat artists a year ago. Nourouh has been touring various European cities, and wrestling folk on this side of the big puddle are awaiting his coming in the hope that he will again provide them some amusement, for there was very little instruction in the technical points of the game to be had by watching the mammoth Turk's maneuvers.

While here in the United States Nourouh made his headquarters in New York city at a well known Tenderloin resort. The stories of his tremendous capacity for coffee and his ability to smoke countless cigarettes are still fresh in the minds of the public.

It was during Nourouh's stay in New York that he made the acquaintance of Harry Casper, the "Hot Air Kid of the Tenderloin." The behemoth became very much attached to Casper, who guided him about the metropolis, and he wanted the "Hot Air Kid" to take part of his winnings in his (Nourouh's) wrestling matches. Casper declined to accept, however, and also turned down a proposition to become Nourouh's adopted son.

ROCKEFELLER'S STOMACH.

Obliged to Live on Bread and Milk but Worth Over $200,000,000.

Blood Wine Effects Interesting Cure of Dyspepsia.

Few people know that the Standard Oil King, whose wealth is so great that he can't count it, but estimated to be somewhere between two and three hundred millions, has been troubled for years with a serious derangement of the digestive organs, and while he could live on the best the markets of the world produced, he has been compelled to take out an existence on bread and milk. His case has recently been brought before the attention of the proprietors of "Blood Wine," who after a careful study of his trouble decided that their remedy would help him; and several bottles have just been shipped to the multi-millionaire. If Mr. Rockefeller takes "Blood Wine" as directed by the chemist, whose skill figured prominently in compounding this splendid remedy, we shall undoubtedly hear of his normal functions being restored.

JOHN D. ROCKEFELLER.

Stomach troubles, weaknesses throughout the digestive organs which cause constipation and upset the equilibrium of the whole system are brought on by irregular meals, imprudent eating and drinking, and a lack of the proper nourishment for the organs which secrete the gastric juices and make assimilation of the food possible. Some discretion should be exercised where stomach trouble is apparent, which if done and directions followed in using "Blood Wine," a permanent cure is almost sure to follow. "Blood Wine" makes digestive fluids. It supplies the missing something in the stomach that aids the digestion. It will overcome sick stomach, nausea, vomiting, help you to retain your food, and give you a good appetite.

It extracts the nourishment from the food and turns it into flesh, tissues, membranes, nerves and muscles. It will cure in a reasonable time old cases of constipation and give the bowels a free easy action at regular periods. "Blood Wine" contains no wine or opiates.

"I sat at my desk all day and for twenty-five years was troubled with constipation. My bowels would not move except by its and stars and my breath and saliva threw off an awful odor; my face burned, eyes ached and I had a dragged-out feeling all the time. Regular medical aid failed to produce but temporary relief. With some prejudice I tried 'Blood Wine.' One bottle helped me. I then had more faith in it and got another bottle. By using a little common sense in my mode of living and the use of four bottles I effected a thorough cure and now I am actually a different, practically a new man. William Curtin, Box 1246, Boston, Mass."

"Blood Wine" sells for fifty cents a bottle, but you can sample it free of charge, and be convinced that it is all claimed for it before buying, at Will Reed and Hodson's drug stores.

THEATRICAL NOTES.

The annual engagement of Maude Adams at the Knickerbocker theater gave the many admirers of that dainty lady the opportunity of seeing her once more on her native stamping ground. Miss Adams is unquestionably the leading ingenue of the day, and it is a pity that she is ever made to essay roles in which her sweet personality is lost. There is always something so charmingly refreshing in the spontaneous naturalness of this great favorite that it is to be deplored that even for a time she gave herself to roles less suited to her than Lady Babble and Phoebe Throssell. Mr. Barrie, the author of both "The Little Minister" and "Quality Street," has endeavored to write, in the latter play, another such perfect bit for Miss Adams as made her great success in his first play. All that malice, youth, beauty, love, modesty, girlish restlessness and tenacity of the desire to be "ladylike" can do in combination to make a most attractive heroine has been done by the author. It is almost needless to say that the exploiting of all this is rounded to perfection by Maude Adams. There is no act on her power at any time. She simply has to be her own bright, sweet self, and the demand is satisfied. It is to be somewhat regretted that the author has made his play a little monotonous. But for the star it would surely drag. It is a lifelike picture of puritanical, severe refinement and the suppression of all the natural desires of women from their hereditary right of curiosity to their admiration of the other sex, even though death were preferable to an admission of the latter weakness.

All this is well enough in an act or two, but when it goes through four and the exploitation of it is the same it becomes a little disappointing. It is much to be regretted, also, that the supposedly strong situation of the play is so unnatural as to be impossible. The portrayal of herself as her own niece to the man who loves her and his blindness for a week, with daily meetings with herself and the absence of the supposed niece on every occasion, is simply out of place in the region of plausibility and should not be in a comedy of the grade used by Miss Adams. The scene in the tentroom the night of the last ball is the discordant note in the whole, because, whether the fault is with actress or author, it is greatly exaggerated. ## The Dirigible Balloon ...NOT THE... True Flying Machine

SANTOS-DUMONT has accomplished the best results yet obtained with the dirigible balloon.

HE IS WORKING IN THE RIGHT DIRECTION BECAUSE HE SEEKS TO REDUCE

THE SIZE OF HIS BALLOON AND INCREASE THE SIZE OF HIS ENGINE. The trouble with all dirigible balloons, and, in fact, all balloons, is that their enormous size practically prevents their progress against a head wind. This obstacle Santos-Dumont seeks to overcome, and his recent successful trip shows that he has succeeded in a measure in diminishing the almost insuperable difficulties in the way of making the balloon the best means of aerial locomotion.

The trials which I witnessed impressed me with the ability, energy and courage of Santos-Dumont, but I need hardly say that I do not think he begins in the best way. THE BEST WAY WILL BE TO DIMINISH THE BALLOON INDEFINITELY UNTIL IT DISAPPEARS ALTOGETHER, LEAVING THE TRUE "FLYING MACHINE." MY EXPERIMENTS WITH THE AERODROME HAVE CONVINCED ME THAT A MACHINE OF THIS CHARACTER WILL FLY. I HAVE THE BEST REASON IN THE WORLD FOR THIS, FOR ON SEVERAL OCCASIONS TWO DIFFERENT MACHINES CONSTRUCTED BY ME HAVE FLOWN. The first flight took place at Quantico, Va., May 6, 1898. Until this experiment I do not believe, with the exception of a toy by Penaud, a Frenchman, that anything made by man ever flew.

could never under any provocation have been so unscrupulous a flirt as was the supposed Lybbie. And, by the way, it would not be a bad idea for the incident of the peas to be left out, as it serves no purpose but to annoy the audience and to make Miss Adams look very awkward. It does not enhance the interest and is therefore of no value.

Miss Adams is a charming Phoebe and is surrounded with an excellent cast, each member of which is most convincing in the delineation of his or her character. The inquisitive neighbors were drawn to the life, and the minor part of the recruiting sergeant was made to stand out. Valentine Brown (Sydney Brough) was well played, while much praise must be given to Helen Lowell for her splendid work as the timid, dependent but loving maiden sister Susan Throssell. Marion Abbott as Patty was excellent.

But why will everybody in "Quality Street" insist on saying "Syusan" for Susan?

"Under Southern Skies," by Lottie Blair Parker, now running at the Theater Republic, is the vehicle in which William A. Brady is exploiting Grace George. This very attractive and ambitious little woman is shown to us as a miss of eighteen, enjoying her birthday celebration with a Halloween party. Miss George gives a sweet performance of Lella Crofton, and her friends can only regret that there is not more opportunity for something greater than sweetness, gentleness and docility. There is one moment when at the end of the third act she is given a strong situation, and she is perfect in it. It is a trying position for her, as she has to hold it through several curtains, but it is strong and very effective. Miss George is pretty, bright and young and as the simple southern girl is true and convincing.

It is a pity that the same mistake is made in "Under Southern Skies" which is made in almost every play where refined southern life is to be depicted. A number of negroes bobbing up on every occasion, regardless of plausibility, joining in conversation with anybody; southern flowers and costumes, and the mistaken coaching of the characters to make them speak like illiterate half breeds seem to be considered enough to make a southern atmosphere when in reality it frustrates its own ends. "Under Southern Skies" is a conventional little play with a touch of melodrama, plenty of brightness and some very pretty sentiment and much pretty language, but it is too thin as to opportunity for a star, and Miss George has not yet found the proper vehicle for a great success. This little lady has ability, but she now has little chance to show it. She is all she can be in the part, and more cannot be said.

The scenery is beautiful, especially in the first act, where one can almost smell the southern flowers. The costumes are faithful to the period and the birthday gifts true to life, though again the atmosphere is lost. It is not a southern custom to bring your gifts with you to a party. I doubt if all Halloween was ever generally celebrated at the south, though in this I may be mistaken, but it did not strike a familiar chord in me. It was pretty enough, but not local. George C. Staley as Major Edward Crofton, Lella's father, gave the best performance after Miss George, while Burr McIntosh as Colonel Paul Daubeny was true to life. Grace Henderson, Ralph Stuart, Cuyler Hastings and Will H. Bray gave good performances of Stella Crofton, Burleigh Mayor, Steve Daubeny and Uncle Joshua respectively. Anner

Lizer was admirably well played by Virginia Glyndon.

That sterling romantic actor Otis Skinner is to have another chance in New York. It is probable that the average star overestimates the importance of a Gotham endorsement, but it cannot be denied that there are very few players of prominence who will not move heaven and earth to get a Broadway theater for a short run each season.

Last year Mr. Skinner came into New York with "Prince Otto" and scored a striking success at Wallack's theater. Ordinarily thereafter time would have been offered him at many houses, but conditions in the theatrical world are scarcely normal just now, and Mr. Skinner must be content with what the magnates may condescend to dole out to him. It is gratifying, therefore, to learn that he will be given New York opportunity with "Francesca da Rimini," his vehicle for the present season. This was really Lawrence Barrett's favorite play, and according to the critics who have seen Mr. Skinner's production it is better in most respects than that offered by Mr. Barrett.

"Francesca da Rimini," by the way, appears to have assisted to a great extent in determining the line of work with which William Norris, no less volens, will be hereafter identified. He has the part of the jester Pepe, a similar role to his Adonis in "In the Palace of the King," in which he scored his greatest success last year with Viola Allen. Now it is certain that whenever a manager has a jester role he will think of no one but Norris for it, with the probable result that this extraordinarily versatile player will find himself restricted to one class of characters.

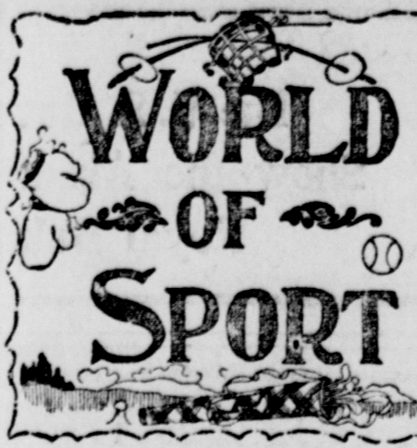

"The Sleeping Beauty and the Beast," the imported fairy spectacle now on view at the Broadway theater, is playing to the largest business at regular prices ever known in this city. The production richly merits the success it has achieved, for nothing even approaching it in magnificence or magnitude has been exploited in the United States, and, what is more, a cast of unusual length and quality has been provided, so that the entertainment is a feast for the ear as well as for the eye. It is likely that "The Sleeping Beauty and the Beast" will run out the season at the Broadway.

Cross country riding is in high favor this season. Seldom if ever have lovers of the grand but expensive pastime turned out in such large numbers. In and about the important cities hunt and country clubs have held what they consider to be the best outings for many a year. Boston, Philadelphia and St. Louis society folk are particularly partial to cross country runs. New Yorkers flock to New Jersey, where the Oranges, Morristown, etc., afford splendid opportunities for the exhilarating sport.

High jumps are by long odds the most dangerous feature of cross country riding. Broad jumps, across ditches, gullies, brooks, etc., are not especially threatening, for if the horse falls the ground or water is but a short distance away. In the "taking" of high fences and hedges, however, the would be centaur should look well to his saddle girths, press his legs and knees tightly against his steed's rounded sides and maintain a strong, steady grasp on the reins. Woe be unto the man who wobbles in the saddle or gives his horse a free head while in midair. Verily his finish doth rapidly approach. A fall by either rider or mount brings serious results. Add fifteen hands, the height of the average horse, to the five or six feet a good hunting equine will rise in clearing an obstruction, and a man finds himself at a point from which he would not willingly choose to be hurled headlong. The tendency of the heavy, plunging horse to topple over on the prostrate rider should be another caution inspiring element.

The American turf congress is a thing of the past if the present outlook is borne out. Dec. 14 the Western Jockey club will hold its annual meeting in Chicago, and its membership will be increased from seven to nine. The new members will be Angelo S. Cella, a well known Chicago attorney and brother of Louis Cella of the Cella-Adler-Tilles combination, owners of the fair grounds and Delmar park racing plants in St. Louis, and a resident of the Mound City.

At present the members of the Western Jockey club are Lawrence A. Young, Chicago; George G. Perkins, Covington, Ky.; N. Nathanson, Chicago; C. S. Bash, New Orleans; Richard Fitzgerald, Chicago; S. R. Montgomery, Memphis, and W. F. Schulte, Louisville. All of these gentlemen, with the exception of Mr. Schulte, are members of the board of stewards.

The Jockey club will recognize the following racing associations during 1902 and allot dates for spring and fall meetings: St. Louis Fair association (club department) of St. Louis, Delmar Park Racing association of St. Louis, New Louisville Jockey club of Louisville, Latonia Jockey club of Covington, New Memphis Jockey club of Memphis, Crescent City Jockey club of New Orleans and the Washington Park and Harlem Jockey clubs of Chicago.

It has been agreed that the meeting at Nashville will be sanctioned by the Western Jockey club, but as to the Newport track no agreement has been made. However, it is said to be the sentiment of the jockey club to sanction a Newport meeting in the spring if application is made.

As to racing in Canada there has been no definite decision.

A History of Trotting and Pacing.
Henry T. Coates of Philadelphia has written and published "A Short History of the American Trotting and Pacing Horse," which will be read with interest by all lovers of "man's best friend." Mr. Coates, who owns many good horses, including the pacing stallion Saladin, 2:05 1/4, says in his preface that the work has been a "labor of love. Loving a horse for himself alone and not rating him as a mere racing machine, to be cast aside when no longer a money getter, the writer has made just such a book as he would give to any one handling his own horses."

BOWLING AS A SPORT FOR WOMEN.

An Indoor Pastime Which Ranks Favorite—Winter Needs of Athletic Femininity.

Women have many and varied sports for summer days, when outdoor life is in order, but when the sun rises late and sets early, when the mercury drops and the wind blows around the chimney corners, she finds but few modes of athletic diversion open to her. Some wise benefactor of femininity should just now appear with a plan for a new indoor sport in which women could find exercise to correspond with that furnished by golf, tennis, rowing, etc. He would thus perform a service for the sex that would entitle him to a niche in the temple of fame.

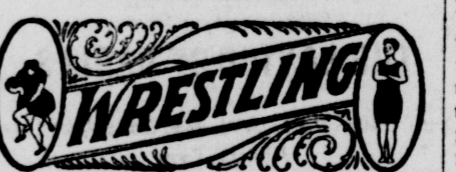

Basket ball was hailed two or three years ago as an ideal sport for women who had access to a roomy gymnasium, but for some reason the game did not take a popular hold on feminine fancy. There is one indoor game, however, that has won a warm spot in many a woman's heart. It is bowling, and, although the exercise involved is apt to overdevelop particular muscles to the absolute neglect of others, yet the good old Dutch pastime has a decidedly beneficial influence on sluggish circulations and weak constitutions.

Every sizable city in the country has its women's bowling clubs, which aim to promote the social as well as the physical development side of the sport. Bowling gives a woman a quick, sure eye, a steady hand and self control.

Martin Julian announced some time ago that he had arranged for the return to the United States of Nourouh, better known as "Terrible Turk No. 2," who defeated our leading mat artist a year ago. Nourouh has been touring various European cities, and wrestling folk on this side of the big puddle are awaiting his coming in the hope that he will again provide them some amusement, for there was very little instruction in the technical points of the game to be had by watching the mammoth Turk's maneuvers.

While here in the United States Nourouh made his headquarters in New York city at a well known Tenderloin resort. The stories of his tremendous capacity for coffee and his ability to smoke countless cigarettes are still fresh in the minds of the public.

It was during Nourouh's stay in New York that he made the acquaintance of Harry Casper, the "Hot Air Kid of the Tenderloin." The behemoth became very much attached to Casper, who guided him about the metropolis, and he wanted the "Hot Air Kid" to take part of his winnings in his (Nourouh's) wrestling matches. Casper declined to accept, however, and also turned down a proposition to become Nourouh's adopted son.

ROCKEFELLER'S STOMACH.

Obliged to Live on Bread and Milk but Worth Over $200,000,000.

Blood Wine Effects Interesting Cure of Dyspepsia.

Few people know that the Standard Oil King, whose wealth is so great that he can't count it, but estimated to be somewhere between two and three hundred millions, has been troubled for years with a serious derangement of the digestive organs, and while he could live on the best the markets of the world produced, he has been compelled to take an existence on bread and milk. His case has recently been brought before the attention of the proprietors of "Blood Wine," who after a careful study of his trouble decided that their remedy would help him; and several bottles have just been shipped to the multi-millionaire. If Mr. Rockefeller takes "Blood Wine," as directed by the chemist, whose skill figured prominently in compounding this splendid remedy, we shall undoubtedly hear of his normal functions being restored.

JOHN D. ROCKEFELLER.

Stomach troubles, weakness through-out the digestive organs which cause constipation and upset the equilibrium of the whole system are brought on by irregular meals, imprudent eating and drinking, and a lack of the proper nourishment for the organs which secrete the gastric juices and make assimilation of the food possible. Some discretion should be exercised where stomach trouble is apparent, which if done and directions followed in using "Blood Wine," a permanent cure is almost sure to follow. "Blood Wine" makes digestive fluids. It supplies the missing something in the stomach that aids the digestion. It will overcome sick stomach, nausea, vomiting, help you to retain your food, and give you a good appetite.

It extracts the nourishment from the food and turns it into flesh, tissues, membranes, nerves and muscles. It will cure in a reasonable time old cases of constipation and give the bowels a free easy action at regular periods. "Blood Wine" contains no wine or opiates.

"I sat at my desk all day and for twenty-five years was troubled with constipation. My bowels would not move except by its starts and my breath and saliva threw off an awful odor; my face burned, eyes ached and I had a dragged-out feeling all the time. Regular medical aid failed to produce but temporary relief. With some prejudice I tried 'Blood Wine.' One bottle helped me. I then had more faith in it and got another bottle. By using a little common sense in my mode of living and the use of four bottles I effected a thorough cure and now I am actually a different, practically a new man. William Curtin, Box 1246, Boston, Mass."

"Blood Wine" sells for fifty cents a bottle, but you can sample it free of charge, and be convinced that it is all claimed for it before buying, at Will Reed and Hodson's drug stores.

CHINESE EXCLUSION

Law Re-Enacted, President Roosevelt Will Recommend, In Message.

DOCUMENT TO BE LENGTHY ONE.

It is Said It May Be Long Enough to Fill About 15 Ordinary Newspaper Columns—Probable Recommendation on Trusts.

Washington, Nov. 21.—President Roosevelt, in his message to congress, will not only recommend the re-enactment of the Chinese exclusion act, but will go further and recommend that it be strengthened to increase its efficiency. The president gave this information to Representative Needham, of California, who talked with him upon the subject.

The president has astonished his friends as well as critics by letting it be known to the members of the cabinet that his first annual message is going to be the longest on record. A message of 28,000 or 30,000 words coming after several years of effort to make them shorter, rather than longer, will be an innovation that will not likely be popular.

It may be long enough to fill about 15 columns of an ordinary newspaper. The president tried parts of it on the cabinet for a couple of hours, and then had hardly dipped well into the many subjects that he wants to discuss.

So far as can be learned now President Roosevelt will discuss every public question in which the people of the United States are at present interested and which he thinks will or ought to come before congress during the life of the present administration.

No subject will be neglected, but those to whom the president has shown the message declare that he will be very chary of making specific recommendations for legislation of any kind.

The nearest he will come to it, it is said, is his discussion of trusts, in which he will suggest that it will be a good thing for the country to know just what the so-called trusts are doing through a system of reports to be forwarded to Washington at regular intervals and compiled in such shape that it will be ostensibly easy to lay the heavy hand of the law upon the violators of it.

THIRTY REBELS WERE KILLED.

Maj. Waller's Men Captured an Almost Impregnable Position.

Washington, Nov. 21.—Rear Admiral Rodgers has cabled the navy department as follows:

"Cavite, Nov. 20.

"Secretary Navy, Washington: "Major Waller reports that on the 17th marines attacked an almost impregnable position at Sojoton, Samar, destroying three camps, killing 30 men, capturing 40 bamboo guns, rice and stores. He reports no casualties, and commends Porter, Bears and other officers."

INJUNCTION MADE PERMANENT.

Akron Employees Must Wait Until February For Pay.

Akron, O., Nov. 21.—Judge D. J. Nye decided a suit brought to restrain city officials from issuing $168,000 bonds to pay accumulated general debts and current expenses and made perpetual injunction against the bond issue.

It means that the city officials and employees will receive no pay until the February apportionment of taxes shall be received. Their salaries are already four months overdue.

ADMIRAL SCHLEY WOULD

NOT ACCEPT A POPULAR FUND.

Knoxville, Tenn., Nov. 21.—Following the report that the court of inquiry would cost Admiral Schley $20,000 the Knoxville Sentinel sent the admiral a dispatch asking if he would consent to public subscriptions to pay the amount. The Sentinel received a personal letter from Admiral Schley, the purport of which was that he cannot accept the offer. He suggests that the matter is "too delicate to discuss," and trusts that his friends will "appreciate his position and respect it."

NEARLY ONE MILLION

RAILWAY EMPLOYEES.

Washington, Nov. 21.—The industrial commission has issued a report on railway labor in the United States. In part it shows that railway employees in this country constitute an army of nearly 1,000,000 people, with probably 5,000,000 people dependent upon the wages paid by railroads. The report says in part that for years to come the railroads will absorb an increasing number of employees.

CORBIN SOUNDED ON

POLICE COMMISSIONERSHIP.

Washington, Nov. 21.—Adjutant General Corbin, while in New York a few days ago, was sounded as to his willingness to accept a proffer of the police commissionership of New York city from Mayor-elect Low. No formal tender was made to him, the reason perhaps being that the gentleman making the inquiry learned that General Corbin was not at all likely to receive one favorably.

Expense in Czolgosz Case.

Buffalo, Nov. 21.—The expense incurred in the trial and conviction of Leon F. Czolgosz, the assassin of President McKinley, was $1,799.50. This bill, it is expected, the state will pay.

Incompetent to Consider Boer Appeal.

The Hague, Nov. 21.—The administrative council of the court of arbitration decided that it was incompetent to consider the Boer appeal for intervention in the war in South Africa.

THE LICK LENS.

Wonderful Effect Upon It of the Heat From a Man's Hand.

Some years ago the writer paid a visit to Alvan Clark at Cambridgeport to witness the testing of the huge lens for the famous Lick telescope. At the end of the long, dark room the largest flint glass then in the world was set up on edge. From a distance of about fifty feet a pencil of light was flashed into the heart of the disk and reflected back into the observer's eye. The slightest imperfections, if any, in the glass would then be revealed by the curves of light and the lines of polarization.

"Now," said Mr. Clark, "I will show you the wonderful sensitiveness of the lens to outside influences. Every human body gives out heat and when brought near to extremely sensitive substances affects them to a greater or less extent. Now watch."

He walked down to the lens and held his hand under it about two feet away. Instantaneously a marvelous spectacle burst into view. It seemed as if the great glass disk had become a living volcano, spouting forth jets of flame. The display was dazzling. Waving, leaping, dancing, the countless tongues of light gleamed and vibrated; then, fitfully, reluctantly, they died away, leaving the lens reflecting only a pure, untroubled light.

"What is it? How do you account for the wonder?" were the eager questions.

"It is only the radiation of heat alternately expanding and contracting the glass. If I had put my hand upon the lens itself, the phenomenon would have been even more violent."

To a person ignorant of lenses the almost supernatural sensitiveness of a mass of glass weighing several hundred pounds was astonishing, but to the scientist it is an everyday matter, for he has instruments that will register with unfailing nicety the approach of a person fifty or a hundred feet away.—Youth's Companion.

CONQUERED HER RIVAL.

A Pretty and Pathetic Story of Jenny Lind and Grisi.

We have recently read a beautiful incident. Jenny Lind and Grisi were both rivals for popular favor in London. Both were invited to sing the same night at a court concern before the queen. Jenny Lind, being the younger, sang first and was so disturbed by the fierce, scornful look of Grisi that she was at the point of failure when suddenly an inspiration came to her.

The accompanist was striking the final chords. She asked him to rise and took the vacant seat. Her fingers wandered over the keys in a loving prelude, and then she sang a little prayer which she had loved as a child. She hadn't sung it for years. As she sang she was no longer in the presence of royalty, but singing to loving friends in her fatherland.

Softly at first the plaintive notes floated on the air, swelling louder and richer every moment. The singer seemed to throw her whole soul into that weird, thrilling, plaintive "prayer." Gradually the song died away and ended in a sob. There was a silence—the silence of admiring wonder.

The audience sat spellbound. Jenny Lind lifted her sweet eyes to look into the scornful face that had so disconcerted her. There was no fierce expression now; instead a teardrop glistened on the long, black lashes, and after a moment, with the impulsiveness of a child of the tropics, Grisi crossed to Jenny Lind's side, placed her arm about her and kissed her, utterly regardless of the audience.—Our Dumb Animals.

An Outrage.

An old gentleman was present at the reading of the will of a distant relative. He had hardly expected to find himself remembered in it, but pretty soon a clause was read in which a certain field was bequeathed to him. That was good, but the document went on to bequeath the old gray mare in the said field to some one else—a man with whom the old gentleman was not on friendly terms. That was too much for his equanimity, and he interrupted the solemn proceedings and brought a smile to the faces of the company by exclaiming:

"Then she's eating my grass!"—Pearson's.

The Highest Court.

The Denver Times says that when Tom Bagnell was justice of the peace at Altman, the highest incorporated town in the country, standing 12,000 feet above the sea level, he had occasion to fine a disorderly character $10 and costs. The victim of the operation of justice objected to the finding of the court and announced that he would take an appeal.

"What? Appeal, would you?" asked the astonished court. "You can't come any of that, now. This is the highest court in the United States, and you can't appeal."

She Was an Observer.

"Did George write to you every day while he was traveling around?"

"Yes, every day."

"What regularity?"

"Yes, but I discovered that every one of the letters was written here in his office before he started, and all he had to do was to drop one in the postoffice wherever he changed to be."

"And how did you find that out?"

"The 'e' in his office typewriter is broken."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Preoccupation.

"Why do you speak so slightly of that eminent scientist?"

"I didn't mean to speak slightly of him," answered the young man with the striped shirt front, "but it does seem peculiar to me that a man who knows just when the next comet will arrive and just how far it is to the moon should be so utterly ignorant when it comes to a question of when it's time for dinner or what train to take to get to the nearest town."—Boston Traveler.

Deceived.

Edith—You say old Mr. Goldley deceived Edith dreadfully about his age? Gladys—Yes, poor girl! After they were married he confessed that he was only sixty instead of seventy-five.

Its Good Point.

Gentleman (to house agent)—The great disadvantage is that the house is so damp.

House Agent—Disadvantage, sir? Advantage, I call it. In case of fire it wouldn't be so likely to burn.

CHOICE MISCELLANY

Silk Hat and Bare Feet.

In Solingen, the Sheffield of Germany, an individual was declared the other day to have committed a misdemeanor for having walked barefooted through the streets wearing a top hat. A party of wine friends made a bet that one of them, Rudolf Beck, would not walk a certain distance through the town in this eccentric guise. Herr Beck, in carrying out his plan, so edified the youthful population that they assembled in crowds round him and followed him, cheering and screaming, until he had finished his promenade. The police, not being of a humorous turn of mind, objected, charged him with a misdemeanor and sent him a mandate calling upon him to pay a fine of 30 shillings. This Beck refused to do, declaring that Germany was a free country and if the proletariat were allowed to dispense with boots and shoes and stockings he could act likewise. So the case had to come before the sheriff's court, and the men of the law acquitted him forthwith and without the slightest hesitation. The public prosecutor, however, appealed to the criminal court, and the case was tried before a bench of five judges. The bench came to the decision that Herr Beck had disturbed order in the public thoroughfares, had excited considerable sensation and had annoyed the public, so he was condemned to pay a fine of 10 shillings and costs.—London Telegraph.

Bathrooms In Public Schools.

It has been decided that the public schools of Boston shall be provided with well appointed bathrooms. This movement was begun two years ago, when the Paul Revere school was built, and in future all schools are to have such conveniences. When a child presents himself for admission to a school and gives evidence that he has not been as well groomed at home as a proper regard for his health and the comfort of its classroom associates demands, it is the duty of an instructor to lead him to a bathroom and give him a lesson in the hygiene of the person. Not until he has passed a satisfactory inspection is he permitted to take his place in the class to which he is assigned. Children are naturally sensitive to classification among the unclean, who must while in that condition be denied the privilege of fellowship with those whose parents take better care of them, and as a result the boy or girl thus treated is very likely to go home and read the riot act to those responsible for the conditions inviting it. Teachers in the Revere school report that the system works admirably. The scholars come to school much cleaner than formerly, and the work for both teachers and pupils is better than formerly, probably because the classroom atmosphere is less depressing.

Bulldog Strength.

"A bulldog's strength," said a young athlete, "is the greatest thing in the world. I was up at the Pythian Athletic club the other night, and there was in the gymnasium a white bulldog named Lew. Lew was muzzled, and they were heaving a twelve pound medicine ball at him. It would strike him hard enough to stun an average man, but he would just roll over and over from the blow and then jump up perfectly fresh and race after the ball as hard as he could tear. He would knock head foremost into the posts and pillars. You would think he'd break his skull, but those crashes freaked him no more than the pat of a lady's hand. They took the muzzled ball and rolled a fifty pound dumbbell at him. He took the dumbbell in his mouth, and nobody could catch him. In addition, he speculates in opium and rice. Every mandarin, without exception, is in business. Availing himself of his official position, he buys rice at an unusually low price to sell at an exorbitant figure in the famine stricken provinces. Sometimes he will build a tollgate on a road near his mansion and levy tribute on passing teams, or he may find a pretext to cut off the water supply from some prosperous farmer so as to charge him 4,000 or 5,000 taels for the use of water. # CHINESE EXCLUSION

Law Re-Enacted, President Roosevelt Will Recommend, In Message.

DOCUMENT TO BE LENGTHY ONE.

It is Said It May Be Long Enough to Fill About 15 Ordinary Newspaper Columns—Probable Recommendation on Trusts.

Washington, Nov. 21.—President Roosevelt, in his message to congress, will not only recommend the re-enactment of the Chinese exclusion act, but will go further and recommend that it be strengthened to increase its efficiency. The president gave this information to Representative Needham, of California, who talked with him upon the subject. The president has astonished his friends as well as critics by letting it be known to the members of the cabinet that his first annual message is going to be the longest on record. A message of 28,000 or 30,000 words coming after several years of effort to make them shorter, rather than longer, will be an innovation that will not likely be popular.

It may be long enough to fill about 15 columns of an ordinary newspaper. The president tried parts of it on the cabinet for a couple of hours, and then had hardly dipped well into the many subjects that he wants to discuss.

So far as can be learned now President Roosevelt will discuss every public question in which the people of the United States are at present interested and which he thinks will or ought to come before congress during the life of the present administration.

No subject will be neglected, but those to whom the president has shown the message declare that he will be very chary of making specific recommendations for legislation of any kind.

The nearest he will come to it, it is said, is his discussion of trusts, in which he will suggest that it will be a good thing for the country to know just what the so-called trusts are doing through a system of reports to be forwarded to Washington at regular intervals and compiled in such shape that it will be ostensibly easy to lay the heavy hand of the law upon the violators of it.

THIRTY REBELS WERE KILLED.

Maj. Waller's Men Captured an Almost Impregnable Position.

Washington, Nov. 21.—Rear Admiral Rodgers has cabled the navy department as follows:

"Secretary Navy, Washington:

"Major Waller reports that on the 17th marines attacked an almost impregnable position at Sojotom, Samar, destroying three camps, killing 30 men, capturing 40 bamboo guns, rice and stores. He reports no casualties, and commends Porter, Bearns and other officers. Rodgers."

INJUNCTION MADE PERMANENT.

Akron Employees Must Wait Until February For Pay.

Akron, O., Nov. 21.—Judge D. J. Nye decided a suit brought to restrain city officials from issuing $168,000 bonds to pay accumulated general debts and current expenses and made perpetual injunction against the bond issue.

It means that the city officials and employees will receive no pay until the February apportionment of taxes shall be received. Their salaries are already four months overdue.

ADMIRAL SCHLEY WOULD

NOT ACCEPT A POPULAR FUND.

Knoxville, Tenn., Nov. 21.—Following the report that the court of inquiry would cost Admiral Schley $20,000 the Knoxville Sentinel sent the admiral a dispatch asking if he would consent to public subscriptions to pay the amount. The Sentinel received a personal letter from Admiral Schley, the purport of which was that he cannot accept the offer. He suggests that the matter is "too delicate to discuss," and trusts that his friends will "appreciate his position and respect it."

Washington, Nov. 21.—The industrial commission has issued a report on railway labor in the United States. In part it shows that railway employees in this country constitute an army of nearly 1,000,000 people, with probably 5,000,000 people dependent upon the wages paid by railroads. The report says in part that for years to come the railroads will absorb an increasing number of employees.

Washington, Nov. 21.—Adjutant General Corbin, while in New York a few days ago, was sounded as to his willingness to accept a proffer of the police commissionership of New York city from Mayor-elect Low. No formal tender was made to him, the reason perhaps being that the gentleman making the inquiry learned that General Corbin was not at all likely to receive one favorably.

Expense in Czolgosz Case.

The Hague, Nov. 21.—The administrative council of the court of arbitration decided that it was incompetent to consider the Boer appeal for intervention in the war in South Africa.

THE LICK LENS.

Wonderful Effect Upon It of the Heat From a Man's Hand.

Some years ago the writer paid a visit to Alvan Clark at Cambridgeport to witness the testing of the huge lens for the famous Lick telescope. At the end of the long, dark room the largest flint glass then in the world was set up on edge. From a distance of about fifty feet a pencil of light was flashed into the heart of the disk and reflected back into the observer's eye. The slightest imperfections, if any, in the glass would then be revealed by the curves of light and the lines of polarization.

"Now," said Mr. Clark, "I will show you the wonderful sensitiveness of the lens to outside influences. Every human body gives out heat and when brought near to extremely sensitive substances affects them to a greater or less extent. Now watch."

He walked down to the lens and held his hand under it about two feet away. Instantaneously a marvelous spectacle burst into view. It seemed as if the great glass disk had become a living volcano, spouting forth jets of flame. The display was dazzling. Waving, leaping, dancing, the countless tongues of light gleamed and vibrated; then, fully, reluctantly, they died away, leaving the lens reflecting only a pure, untroubled light.

"What is it? How do you account for the wonder?" were the eager questions.

"It is only the radiation of heat alternately expanding and contracting the glass. If I had put my hand upon the lens itself, the phenomenon would have been even more violent."

To a person ignorant of lenses the almost supernatural sensitiveness of a mass of glass weighing several hundred pounds was astonishing, but to the scientist it is an everyday matter, for he has instruments that will register with unfailing nicety the approach of a person fifty or a hundred feet away.—Youth's Companion.

CONQUERED HER RIVAL.

A Pretty and Pathetic Story of Jenny Lind and Grisi.

We have recently read a beautiful incident. Jenny Lind and Grisi were both rivals for popular favor in London. Both were invited to sing the same night at a court concern before the queen. Jenny Lind, being the younger, sang first and was so disturbed by the fierce, scornful look of Grisi that she was at the point of failure when suddenly an inspiration came to her.

The accompanist was striking the final chords. She asked him to rise and took the vacant seat. Her fingers wandered over the keys in a loving prelude, and then she sang a little prayer which she had loved as a child. She hadn't sung it for years. As she sang she was no longer in the presence of royalty, but singing to loving friends in her fatherland.

Softly at first the plaintive notes floated on the air, swelling louder and richer every moment. The singer seemed to throw her whole soul into that weird, thrilling, plaintive "prayer." Gradually the song died away and ended in a sob. There was a silence—the silence of admiring wonder.

The audience sat spellbound. Jenny Lind lifted her sweet eyes to look into the scornful face that had so disconcerted her. There was no fierce expression now; instead a teardrop glistened on the long, black lashes, and after a moment, with the impulsiveness of a child of the tropics, Grisi crossed to Jenny Lind's side, placed her arm about her and kissed her, utterly regardless of the audience.—Our Dumb Animals.

An Outrage.

An old gentleman was present at the reading of the will of a distant relative. He had hardly expected to find himself remembered in it, but pretty soon a clause was read in which a certain field was bequeathed to him. That was good, but the document went on to bequeath the old gray mare in the said field to some one else—a man with whom the old gentleman was not on friendly terms. That was too much for his equanimity, and he interrupted the solemn proceedings and brought a smile to the faces of the company by exclaiming:

"Then she's eating my grass!"—Pearson's.

The Highest Court.

The Denver Times says that when Tom Bagnell was justice of the peace at Altman, the highest incorporated town in the country, standing 12,000 feet above the sea level, he had occasion to fine a disorderly character $10 and costs. The victim of the operation of justice objected to the finding of the court and announced that he would take an appeal.

"What? Appeal, would you?" asked the astonished court. "You can't come any of that, now. This is the highest court in the United States, and you can't appeal."

She Was an Observer.

"Did George write to you every day while he was traveling around?"

"Yes, every day."

"What regularity?"

"Yes, but I discovered that every one of the letters was written here in his office before he started, and all he had to do was to drop one in the postoffice whenever he changed to be."

"And how did you find that out?"

"The 'e' in his office typewriter is broken."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Preoccupation.

"Why do you speak so slightly of that eminent scientist?"

"I didn't mean to speak slightly of him," answered the young man with the striped shirt front, "but it does seem peculiar to me that a man who knows just when the next comet will arrive and just how far it is to the moon should be so utterly ignorant when it comes to a question of when it's time for dinner or what train to take to get to the nearest town."—Boston Traveler.

Deceived.

Edith—You say old Mr. Goldley deceived Edith dreadfully about his age? Gladys—Yes, poor girl! After they were married he confessed that he was only sixty instead of seventy-five.

Its Good Point.

CHOICE MISCELLANY

Silk Hat and Bare Feet.

In Solingen, the Sheffield of Germany, an individual was declared the other day to have committed a misdemeanor for having walked barefooted through the streets wearing a top hat. A party of wine friends made a bet that one of them, Rudolf Beck, would not walk a certain distance through the town in this eccentric guise. Herr Beck, in carrying out his plan, so edified the youthful population that they assembled in crowds round him and followed him, cheering and screaming, until he had finished his promenade. The police, not being of a humorous turn of mind, objected, charged him with a misdemeanor and sent him a mandate calling upon him to pay a fine of 30 shillings. This Beck refused to do, declaring that Germany was a free country and if the proletariat were allowed to dispense with boots and shoes and stockings he could act likewise. So the case had to come before the sheriff's court, and the men of the law acquitted him forthwith and without the slightest hesitation. The public prosecutor, however, appealed to the criminal court, and the case was tried before a bench of five judges. The bench came to the decision that Herr Beck had disturbed order in the public thoroughfares, had excited considerable sensation and had annoyed the public, so he was condemned to pay a fine of 10 shillings and costs.—London Telegraph.

Bathrooms in Public Schools.

It has been decided that the public schools of Boston shall be provided with well appointed bathrooms. This movement was begun two years ago, when the Paul Revere school was built, and in future all schools are to have such conveniences. When a child presents himself for admission to a school and gives evidence that he has not been as well groomed at home as a proper regard for his health and the comfort of its classroom associates demands, it is the duty of an instructor to lead him to a bathroom and give him a lesson in the hygiene of the person. Not until he has passed a satisfactory inspection is he permitted to take his place in the class to which he is assigned. Children are naturally sensitive to classification among the unclean, who must while in that condition be denied the privilege of fellowship with those whose parents take better care of them, and as a result the boy or girl thus treated is very likely to go home and read the riot act to those responsible for the conditions inviting it. Teachers in the Revere school report that the system works admirably. The scholars come to school much cleaner than formerly, and the work for both teachers and pupils is better than formerly, probably because the classroom atmosphere is less depressing.

Buildup Strength.

"A bulldog's strength," said a young athlete, "is the greatest thing in the world. I was up at the Pythian Athletic club the other night, and there was in the gymnasium a white bulldog named Lew. Lew was muzzled, and they were leaving a twelve pound medicine ball at him. It would strike him hard enough to stun an average man, but he would just roll over and over from the blow and then jump up perfectly fresh and race after the ball as hard as he could tear. He would knock head foremost into the posts and pillars. You would think he'd break his skull, but those crashes fazed him no more than the pat of a lady's hand. They took the muzzled finally and rolled a fifty pound dumbbell at him. He took the dumbbell in his mouth, and nobody could catch him. He rushed about, circling and dodging, as though he carried nothing, but you could see the muscles standing out all over his beautiful white, hard body. He only weighs fifty-three pounds."—Philadelphia Record.

WELL ATTENDED MEETING HELD

Trades Council Discussed a Great Variety of Matters Last Night.

NON-UNION MADE STOGIES

Came in for Their Share of Attention. Other Matters of Interest in Labor Circles Were Up for Consideration By the Body.

The meeting of Trades Council held last evening was well attended, but the matters taken up by the body were principally of a routine character.

President McLane was in the chair, and no new members were received—an indication that all delegates are attentive to their duties, no vacancies having occurred for some time.

A communication was received from the headquarters of the American Federation of Labor, acknowledging the receipt of the certificate of Leroy Orr, recently elected to represent the council at their national convention in Scranton. Several matters were made clear which it will be necessary for the delegate to know.

The carriage and wagon makers' union of Cincinnati addressed a letter to the council in which they express their thanks for the donation made at the last meeting. The union is making good progress toward carrying its point with the Cincinnati employers. Not a single break has occurred in the ranks of the workmen since the strike was inaugurated, and they express confidence that they will win.

The lady garment makers of New York sent a communication to the council here, stating that a firm of that city was an unfair concern. They also stated that a local firm was handling its product. A committee composed of George Beatty, George Grim and Elmer Gaston was appointed to confer with the local merchant.

The committee appointed at the last meeting to interview a local dry goods firm in an endeavor to have the sale of another firm's goods discontinued in this city reported that the firm had immediately boxed up some $200 worth of stock and shipped it back.

A committee recently appointed made a report that a great many local firms were handling non-union stogies and that some action was badly needed along this line. Two Wellsville stogy makers were present at the meeting and gave many valuable suggestions with reference to the stogy question.

A number of important matters were discussed under the head of good of the order and the meeting adjourned.

HEART TROUBLE

CAUSED FRANK SPIVEY TO BE LOCKED IN JAIL.

Officer Found Him in a Helpless State—His Story to the Mayor Caused Laughter.

Lying helpless in an alley near the Severs china works, Frank Spivey was picked up last evening by Officers Mahoney and Morris and carried to jail like a sawlog.

Before the mayor this morning Spivey declared he had not been drunk, but suffered from an attack of heart trouble. The mayor and spectators were forced to laugh and even the accused joined in the outburst. He stuck to his story, however, and insisted that he had not taken a drink for two weeks. The mayor finally decided to give him a trial tomorrow and allowed him to go on his own recognizance.

John Allison was let out of jail yesterday afternoon. He promised the mayor to pay his fine of $9.60 within two weeks and was given a chance to do so.

Settles Over 400 Cases.

Judge Bell, of Altoona, has handed down a decision granting a perpetual injunction against the merchants of that city from assigning their accounts against employees of the Pennsylvania railroad to a West Virginia collecting agency for collection under the law of another state.

The decision settles over 400 cases brought by Altoona merchants.

Suspect Under Arrest.

John Shaw, a suspicious character has been arrested in Huntington, W. Va. He had $859 on his person, the money being sewed up in the lining of his undershirt, and is suspected of being a member of the gang that recently robbed the bank at Monaca, Pa.

RECOGNITION OF THE LORD

In the Constitution, One Object of Convention in Pittsburgh—Some of the Proceedings.

Pittsburgh, Nov. 21.—The national conference on the Christian principles of civil government was in session yesterday in the Second Presbyterian church.

Several of the distinguished speakers on the program were not present, and there was much disappointment yesterday afternoon because of the absence of Rev. Dr. C. W. Dabney, who was to speak on "Atheism, the Parent of Anarchy." There were but two or three speakers from a distance. The original idea of the organization was to secure the recognition of God in the constitution of the United States, but other features have been added, and the original idea is not now made so prominent.

Owing to the absence of the Rev. Dr. E. L. Eaton, of Allegheny, the Rev. Dr. J. H. Leiper made an address on the "Rights of Man," incidentally discussing the rights of women. J. J. Porter, an elder in the First United Presbyterian church, of Allegheny, and late candidate for state treasurer on the Prohibition ticket, presided during the morning session yesterday.

Rev. Dr. Robert M. Russell, pastor of the Sixth United Presbyterian church, made an address on "Sunday Observance."

Rev. Dr. W. J. Coleman, a covenant minister in Allegheny, spoke on the "Nature of an Oath." He said all reference to God was intentionally omitted because the constitution forbids "all religious test," and an oath contains much religion. The president, he said, only makes a solemn promise, and "so we come face to face with the character of the constitution itself."

Rev. W. I. Wishart, of Allegheny, read a paper on "The Oath." Resolutions of a lengthy character on Sunday observance and the oath were discussed and adopted.

Andrew Alexander, of New York, who was to preside yesterday afternoon, was not present. The Rev. H. C. Swearingen, of Allegheny, spoke on "The Necessity of Christian Education in Public Schools."

Rev. Dr. Sylvester F. Scovel, of Wooster university, spoke on "Practical Methods of Christian Instruction in the Schools."

The convention attended prayer meeting last night in the Second Presbyterian church.

The original idea of the organization was to secure the recognition of God in the constitution of the United States, but other features have been added, and the original idea is not now made so prominent.

Owing to the absence of the Rev. Dr. E. L. Eaton, of Allegheny, the Rev. Dr. J. H. Leiper made an address on the "Rights of Man," incidentally discussing the rights of women. J. J. Porter, an elder in the First United Presbyterian church, of Allegheny, and late candidate for state treasurer on the Prohibition ticket, presided during the morning session yesterday.

Rev. Dr. Robert M. Russell, pastor of the Sixth United Presbyterian church, made an address on "Sunday Observance."

Rev. Dr. W. J. Coleman, a covenant minister in Allegheny, spoke on the "Nature of an Oath." He said all reference to God was intentionally omitted because the constitution forbids "all religious test," and an oath contains such religion. The president, he said, only makes a solemn promise, and "so we come face to face with the character of the constitution itself."

Rev. W. I. Wishart, of Allegheny, read a paper on "The Oath." Resolutions of a lengthy character on Sunday observance and the oath were discussed and adopted.

Andrew Alexander, of New York, who was to preside yesterday afternoon, was not present. The Rev. H. C. Swearingin, of Allegheny, spoke on "The Necessity of Christian Education in Public Schools."

Rev. Dr. Sylvester F. Scovel, of Wooster university, spoke on "Practical Methods of Christian Instruction in the Schools."

The convention attended prayer meeting last night in the Second Presbyterian church.
